Skinny Skribbles

Around And About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

You can't have a summer without hot weather, and it looks like the boys who compound the ingredients have relented, and there will still be a chance to sing "The Good Old Summer Time." You can leave out the strolling part of it if you have a car.

Young Corrigan evidently believes in going to Long Beach in reverse. He is still a boy. Tell 'em they can't do a thing they want to do and they'll do it every time.

Geo. Townsend had a caller this week who tried to make the office force believe he (George) was the leader of the pension plan, and the caller wanted his $200. An alert secretary detected the applicant was an "old offender," and inclined to the humorous side, volunteered the info that Townsend was in to real estate inquiries, but out when it came to pensions.

And at 85 they are going strong in California. Cal Gilbert had recently returned from a trip to Rome, Pa., where his dad celebrated his four score and five by working in the orchard, doing a little tree surgery, and otherwise getting the joy out of life by out-door exercise. Cal's father was in good health when the family helped him celebrate his 85th anniversary.

George Richardson is doing some guessing in a newspaper contest, and according to his correspondent, is tied with the other best guesser. The guessing won't be over for a few weeks, but if George is successful he guesses he will take a vacation. The first or either the second prize will permit of such an indulgence.

Evidence of the old horse and wagon days still remains on the east side of Dickey's where, embedded in the pavement are two hitching rings. They look lonesome in an automobile setting. The boys and girls of today would speculate as to why they are there and what they were used for, but the old timers who lived here before the streets were paved or automobiles came into general use can tell you the story about the horse and the wagon and the buggy and the farmer. They all played an important part in the development of Orange county. And then Guy Grigg grew restless about the old Missouri days when he walked five miles to the grist mill to help his dad grind flour, and the freight transportation power was old Dobbin.

Vacation cards from Forest Jones one day locate him here and the next day there, if you know the locations of here and there. As a key to this puzzle the here card gives the location some place in Oregon, and the there card somewhere in Canada. The family car is percolating at so much per gallon, if the correspondence is reliable, and it must be, judging from the source. Notwithstanding conflicting evidence the Joneses are having a fine time, the best part of which will be getting home.

The department of my friends must be 100 per cent. Not a one of them has been in to have lunch with me, and the dog biscuits have been lying on my desk for a solid week with only one corner nipped off.

That fellow "stopped" at San Clemente for carrying a gun had a permit to do so, which put a lot of water on the powder.

Real estate is moving, and it isn't the wind that's doing it. Recently The Journal reported a $38,000 Valencia orange grove sale in the Fullerton district. Yesterday the sale of the Haley building at corner of Bush and Fifth and other property to Roy J. Lyon for his boat business in Newport Beach. A $65,000 transaction. Just about the time when everybody is inclined to paint a black border about the business envelope up jumps somebody who wants something the other fellow owns, and both parties are satisfied. This is a pretty big country for any one man or group of men to stop, especially if it's Orange county.

Be sure your sins will find you out, is an old scriptural positive. This incident isn't exactly a sin, but a circumstance. Before Guy Gilbert was a life insurance agent he was in the postoffice of an Indiana town, location the money order department. One of the hill billys came in one day and wanted to know how much it would cost to send $20 to Honduras. That put Guy and his assistant scratching their heads and turning post books inside out. The customer became impatient and wanted to

Plumbers, Boat Builders Descend On County Board

Discrimination Charged in Buying Craft; Ordinance Under Fire

Delegations of plumbers and boat builders descended indignantly on county supervisors this morning, sweeping formerly obscure matters about a plumbing inspection ordinance and a fireboat into the limelight and threatening a lawsuit in the boat case.

The board stood sharply divided, two to two, on amendment of the plumbing ordinance so it would affect all districts including Chairman Willard Smith's; and it stood solid behind Purchasing Agent Eugene Fenelon after boat builders had charged "discrimination" and insufficient engineering on the new $6200 harbor fireboat.

"Something is very, very peculiar here," observed H. P. Howard, president of the Seacraft corporation. "You don't know what you're getting. I think it's criminal." He said later he probably would take court action against the board.

There are some instances, charged Leo J. Friis, attorney for the plumbers, where ranchers actually are running their sewer lines into irrigation lines.

First came the plumbers. They asked that the inspection ordinance apply not only to unincorporated areas of the second, third and fifth districts, but to Smith's district as well. Smith opposed the request on grounds the amendment is "not what the people want," but what a certain group wants, saying it would inconvenience ranchers who do their own plumbing.

Sharp comments flew as Smith and Supervisor John Mitchell stood for the present ordinance, and Supervisor N. E. West and Harry Riley asked that it be made uniform. Supervisor Steele Finley, representing the unaffected first district—Santa Ana—was silent.

ORDINANCE ATTACKED

Friis, who with Charles Carlson, Santa Ana plumber leader, represented the plumbers, declared the present ordinance is unconstitutional. "We've had no trouble enforcing it," said Smith.

"Yes, we have," retorted West. "Some people say they won't live up to it any longer because it's discriminatory."

LEGAL TEST ADVOCATED

"Mr. Mahl," retorted Smith, "is capable of speaking for himself." Mahl was not present.

"We've muddled things up enough," said West, "by passing laws before their constitutionality and legality are gone into."

LEGAL TEST ADVOCATED

Carlson said Building Inspector E. M. Mahl "favored the amendment—until last week."

Corrigan In Technical Custody After Flight Across Atlantic

Without passport, landing papers or map, red-headed Douglas Corrigan, 31-year-old Californian, stepped from his battered old "jalopy" at Baldonnel airport, Dublin, Ireland, with the bland announcement he had "just got in from New York" on an unheralded flight. This picture was transmitted from London to New York by radio.

But Irish Promise To Overlook His Unsanctioned Hop

DUBLIN. (AP)—Prime Minister Eamon De Valera congratulated Douglas G. "Daredevil" Corrigan today on his "wrong way" flight from New York to Dublin.

The prime minister hurried from a cabinet meeting to greet the 31-year-old Californian and hear the details of the daring flight in the old plane which Corrigan insisted brought him to Ireland instead of California because of a little "mistake" in direction.

After thanking De Valera for Ireland's kindness to him, Corrigan, appearing as fresh as if he had just hopped across the Irish sea, visited government buildings to straighten out difficulties arising out of his failure to have any of the papers a flier abroad is supposed to carry.

Officials of Ireland's department of external affairs told him they would place no difficulties in his way.

Corrigan went out to Baldonnel airport to see his "old crate" and disclosed he hoped to visit London to exhibit the plane.

WON'T FLY HOME

"I am not going home without the plane, but I won't fly it," the Californian explained. He said he would take it back by steamer.

He had lunch at the United States legation, where messages from many parts of the world poured in with congratulations on his flight. One of them was said to have been from Henry Ford.

Corrigan was $2000 to the good already as a result of the little "mistake" in direction, having received that much for a radio broadcast to America.

Samish Charged With Perjury By Lobbyist Probers

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Arthur H. Samish, San Francisco lobbyist, notified District Attorney Otis D. Babcock's office today he would surrender himself to accept service of a warrant charging him with perjury in his testimony before the grand jury.

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—District Attorney Otis D. Babcock said today a complaint charging perjury has been issued against Arthur H. Samish, San Francisco lobbyist.

The complaint was signed by J. L. R. Marsh, foreman of the grand jury which has been investigating legislative practices.

Babcock said the specific instance in which it was charged Samish gave false testimony as a witness, had to do with his relationships with the M. C. Levee Theatrical agency in Hollywood.

The prosecutor contends that at one or more of the previous sessions Samish declared his employment was as a general representative, and not for the purpose of opposing or supporting any specific legislative measures.

Levee said he headed a group which had paid Samish $5000 in 1935 and $10,000 in 1937. He testified that Samish was employed to look after certain bills, particularly assembly bill 403 of the 1935 session.

This measure, he said, would have "put out of business" the arrangements were made in a Sacramento hotel room in a meeting between him and Samish alone.

In the 1937 session, Samish's employment was more general, the witness said, but had particular reference to assembly bill 1226. This measure, he explained, was similar to AB-403 of the preceding session. The bill classified employees of Hollywood agents as domestic help, he said, and imposed other conditions inimical to the interests of booking agents.

The officers, numbering about 50 and recruited from north shore towns, moved to a swift attack after a gathering of between 400 and 500 demonstrators and spectators ignored their order to disperse.

A half dozen women pickets were knocked to the ground. A number of other participants in the battle were struck by stones and bottles but none was injured seriously.

The demonstrators, enjoining from interfering with non-striking workers in a recent court order, retreated to a point three blocks from the plant.

They remained there while 20 foremen and employees entered the foundry.

The officers placed a tight guard about the plant—closed for six weeks because of a strike called by the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Machinery Workers, a Committee for Industrial Organization affiliate, in protest against an ordered 10 per cent wage cut.

Officers carried guns but did not use them. They fired tear gas from pistols and threw gas bombs. About 50 gas missiles burst within a few minutes.

FINNS ACCEPT OLYMPIC BID

HELSINGFORS. (AP)—Finland today accepted a formal invitation to hold the 1940 Olympic games at Helsingfors.

Finland originally had bid for the international games and was given first call by the international Olympic committee after Japan renounced the games last week.

Captain of German Ship Questioned

NEW YORK. (AP)—Capt. Adolf Ahrens of the German liner Bremen was questioned today by the special federal grand jury investigating espionage activities.

He has been before the grand jury several times, presumably in connection with the investigation into the flight to Germany of Dr. Ignatz T. Griebel, one of 18 defendants named in an espionage indictment.

Intruder in Home

CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa. (AP)—Gerald P. Nugent, president of the Philadelphia National league baseball club, today captured a negro intruder in his home.

Nugent said he had received telephone calls threatening his 11-year-old son, Gerald, Jr., since January, and his house had been burglarized four times in the past month.

British Steamer Radios for Help

MANILA. (AP)—The British steamer City of Derby today sent a radio call for immediate assistance tonight, reporting she was aground on Salina island, center of the Philippine group.

The 6246 ton ship, registered from London, carried no passengers. A tug was ordered from Manila to aid the Derby.

JAPS DEMAND RUSSIAN WAR

TOKYO. (AP)—Instructions to make a new and stronger protest to Soviet Russia over alleged seizure of Manchoukuo territory were telegraphed tonight to the Japanese embassy in Moscow. The action coincided with a Tokyo demonstration demanding war on Russia.

Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japan's ambassador, was told to carry the protest directly to Maxim Litvinov, Soviet foreign commissar.

Japan charges that Soviet troops have occupied territory of Manchoukuo, Japan's protectorate, near Changkufeng, close to the junction of the boundaries of Manchoukuo, Russia Siberia and Japanese Korea.

In Tokyo, 25 Japanese, carrying heavy canes and wearing armbands of an extreme Nationalist society, demonstrated before the Soviet embassy.

"Get out of Manchoukuo or we will throw you out," some yelled.

NO TIME LOST IN PICKING THESE JURORS

Attorneys lost no time picking a jury today to hear a $30,466.33 auto death damage suit in superior court. Setting some sort of record, the first 12 persons drawn by County Clerk Mel Head were accepted to try the case.

Plaintiffs in the action, before a jury of five men and seven women and Superior Judge Raymond McIntosh of Sierra county, are Wilton C. and May Boucher, parents of Dallas Wilton Boucher, 20, killed in an auto accident at Central avenue and 101 highway near La Habra last Feb. 19.

Defendant is Grace DeBerard, driver of the other car, who alleged in her answer that Howard Grant, driver of the auto in which young Boucher was riding, was negligent. A. P. G. Steffes of Los Angeles and Milburn Harvey of Santa Ana represent the plaintiffs, with Fred Forgy of Santa Ana appearing for the defendant.

Former Wife of Roscoe Ates Wants $3794 Alimony

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Roscoe Ates had something new to stutter over today. His ex-wife, Clara, wants $75 a month from him for life and $3794 back alimony.

She claimed in a petition filed yesterday the comedian promised to pay her this amount under a property settlement agreement made when they were divorced in 1935.

Since then, Mrs. Ates' attorneys said, Roscoe has taken another wife, Lenore Bell Jumps, his vaudeville partner, who uses the stage name Barbara Ray.

Missing Flier May Be on His Way to Ireland

BOSTON. (AP)—A sister of Davis E. Smith, Detroit flier missing since he left Wayne (Detroit) county airport in a rebuilt monoplane at dawn on June 29, suggested today he might have attempted a transatlantic hop.

Mrs. Glenn D. Hawes of Malden said Smith's plane was equipped with a rubber boat and carried 373 gallons of gasoline. The craft, similar to that in which Douglas Corrigan of Los Angeles hopped yesterday, had been fitted with a new engine and a new type of wing, she said.

In Detroit, Joseph W. Hance, a friend who helped Smith rebuild his plane, said the flier had a dream of flying the Atlantic to Ireland.

Patsy Kelly Walks Off 42 Pounds

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Comedienne Patsy Kelly revealed herself to Hollywood today—svelte, streamlined.

From 163 pounds, she had trimmed her weight 42 pounds. She did it by eliminating fat from her diet and walking 20 miles a day for four weeks.

Flea Shipped Across Nation, Will Get $100 For Week's 'Work' In Hollywood Studio

NEW YORK. (AP)—Sam and Sadie, perhaps the smartest of the current crop of fleas on Broadway, are leaving by plane today for Hollywood—and Claudette Colbert's shapely back.

Miss Colbert, it seems, is being starred in a new version of "Zaza"—Gloria Swanson did the picture in the silent days without benefit of fleas—and in line with the new Hollywood realism it was decided to use a flea.

Partly because there are no intelligent fleas in Hollywood and partly because it has been the custom for a number of years past to import Broadway talent to the cinema capital, Al Lewin, producer, turned to New York.

Roy Heckler, owner of Hubert's circus, the great fleas menagerie, was sought out. There was a great deal of correspondence.

Heckler, one of the most serious minded of flea men, told Lewin he imports his fleas from Italy and trains them for six weeks after giving them I. Q. tests to determine their talent.

For the I. Q. test, Heckler puts the fleas in a box which contains a lighted bulb wrapped with loose cotton. Smart fleas burrow through for warmth. The morons and the rugged individualists stay outside.

Lewin really wanted only one flea, but it was finally decided to send two, lest one die. They are insured for $5000 and the one that acts—probably Sam—will draw $100 for the week's work.

17 GUILTY IN GAS COMBINE

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone today sustained the conviction of 17 of 46 defendants found guilty last January of a conspiracy to raise and fix Midwest gasoline prices in 1935 and 1936. He fined these defendants—12 companies and five executives—a total of $65,000.

The judge dismissed the charges as to 10 other executives and one corporation and found that the remaining defendants—15 officials and three firms—were entitled to a new trial because they had been linked to the alleged conspiracy only by circumstantial evidence.

Among the individual defendants, whose convictions stand, is Charles E. Arnott, New York, vice president of the Socony Vacuum Oil company, alleged by the government to have been the "master mind" of the conspiracy.

Reichsbank Shares Continue Decline

BERLIN. (AP)—Reichsbank shares today continued the decline which was general yesterday on the Berlin boerse (stock market), but most other shares regained some of yesterday's losses.

Anti-Jewish measures of the past month and decrees by Field Marshal Wilhelm Hermann Goering, Germany's economic director and head of her four-year self-sufficiency plan, were believed outstanding reasons for the tumble.

10,000 White Doves Freed As British King And Queen Step to Paris Rail Station

PARIS. (AP)—A booming salute of 101 guns welcome King George and Queen Elizabeth of England today on their arrival for a visit of state to France.

The visit of the British sovereigns was designed to reaffirm—as did a similar visit by King George V in 1914—the common front of two of the world's greatest empires.

The king and queen, smiling broadly, stepped onto the Bois de Boulogne station platform and shook hands with President and Madame Lebrun.

The appearance of the king and queen brought volleys of cheers from throngs surrounding the station.

The British royal standard and the French tricolor ran up on

Absent Mindedness Costs Corrigan His Job In L. A. Factory

PLANE BOUGHT FOR $310 IN NEW YORK

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Douglas Corrigan is a "swell pilot," in the opinion of Larry Conner, mechanic who helped him remodel the ancient ship in which he crossed the Atlantic.

"There's no show off about him," Conner said today. "No braggadocio. Just quiet determination. I'm not surprised that he made it."

"Nice and quiet," was the way J. J. Adams, who had given Corrigan post-graduate flying instruction, described his pupil.

"He liked to experiment on his own hook," said Adams. "I never thought he'd just up and go to Europe though."

Corrigan's "absent mindedness" which landed him in Ireland instead of California was evidenced at the Northrop Aircraft Co. plant, where he was discharged recently after repeated warnings, because he failed to obtain a social security number. "Sheer absent mindedness," friends there said.

Conner said the "Corrigan clipper," as the airport men termed it, was purchased in New York in 1935 at an original cost of $310.

"Why it took Doug 13 days to fly the ship back," Conner recalled. "He landed in cow pastures along the route and had to work on the crate at night so he could fly it the next day."

Conner told how they had remodeled the ship, Corrigan trading for two old Wright engines, assembling one power plant from the best parts in both.

"He used to take us up at night and we'd test-fly the clipper over San Diego, landing at an abandoned airport on Camp Kearny mesa with the aid of a flashlight."

"Once we made a forced landing near Oceanside, with fog closing in. We came down fast, chased cows ahead of us down the canyon and settled down perfectly on a clearing about as big as a handkerchief."

"Knowing that cows like the taste of airplane 'dope,' Doug refused to leave the ship and slept in the tiny cabin all night to keep the animals from wrecking the fabric."

"He made six flights across the country to practice the navigation principles he had been studying at home in books."

"To save money for this flight, he would eat half a pecan roll and drink half a bottle of milk for breakfast, and then finish it off for supper."

"No, I'm not surprised that he made it."

Corrigan Gets An Irish Greeting At Flight's End

At the end of Douglas Corrigan's wrong-way flight from New York to Dublin, Ireland, the 31-year-old Californian was welcomed by astounded airport officials, one of whom is shown in this radiophoto sent from London to New York. At first he refused to believe he had flown across the Atlantic in the battered ship.

Blind Grandmother Proud Of 'Nonstop' Corrigan

Just as surprised as everybody else was Mrs. Jennie Corrigan, 92 and blind, of Los Angeles, when she was told her grandson, Douglas P. Corrigan of Long Beach, made a sneak non-stop flight from New York to Dublin, Ireland, in a 1900 dilapidated plane. Shown with her are Rev. and Mrs. S. Fraser Langford, Corrigan's uncle and aunt, with whom he makes his home.

Corrigan Takes Off On Hop To Ireland

Here is Douglas P. Corrigan in his battered plane as he gunned his motor and took off on the hop which ended at Dublin, Ireland. He told attendants at Floyd Bennett field he was going to California, and professed to be amazed that he came down in Ireland. "My compass went wrong," he said when he landed at Dublin.

RIDDLE FOR CATCHER RIDDLE of Boston Bees was how to find an opening to catch the ball as Phillies' Klein and Jordan slid over plate on a two-bagger by Arnovich.

CORRIGAN HELD IN TECHNICAL CUSTODY

held by Irish customs officials, but he said this was a mere formality and that he was approaching the Dublin government in an effort to get it released.

TECHNICALLY HELD

Corrigan spent the morning walking around the grounds of the United States legation, where he is under technical detention because of his arrival yesterday without official papers. He is the guest of the minister, John Cudahy.

He put in much time chatting with the crowd which gathered long before he got up and discussing his plans with the minister.

The question of clothes did not bother him. He considered his immediate needs supplied, but said he might go shopping later.

He acknowledged that "folks here still are tremendous excited about my trip, but after all it wasn't much. They've been very kind to me in not having me summoned for landing without an airworthiness certificate."

BORROWS PAJAMAS

The 31-year-old Californian who flew an aged $900 plane the "wrong way," crossed the Atlantic, set all England and Ireland talking and was proclaimed on two continents as a foolhardy hero, slept late in the guest bed of the American legation. He wore pajamas borrowed from Cudahy.

"I want a nice long rest," he told Cudahy last night. "Don't wake me for a long time. I'll sleep through breakfast."

He had the matter of the legality of his landing to settle with Irish officials, but men with names like Corrigan and Cudahy are not likely to have trouble here getting over a technical difficulty when it concerns a flight like Corrigan's to Dublin.

TWO FREE SUITS

He won't have to worry about clothes. Admiring tailors already have sent the daring aviator two new outfits, free.

He had offers of contracts, too, although he had been here less than a day, but it was understood he turned them all down with the statement, "I prefer to be footloose while I am here, and won't sign anything."

Footloose and fancy free, he is staying in Dublin a day or two, without planning for the future.

The "crate" that took him the 3150 miles from New York to Dublin's Baldonnel airport between 4:17 a. m. E. S. T. and 9:30 a. m. E. S. T., Monday was locked up at Baldonnel to safeguard it from souvenir hunters.

PRESS PRAISES HIM

Under the air navigation pact, American fliers are permitted to land in E. R. on unscheduled flights if their passports are in order. But Corrigan did not bring a passport.

Technically Corrigan was "detained" today pending an examination of credentials and communication with the United States government, but little trouble was expected because of the unorthodox flight.

Newspapers burst into praise. The Northern Whig of Belfast said: "Flying the Atlantic in an old, dilapidated monoplane, Corrigan turned a gambler with fate into a brilliant and jaunty triumph."

"Never has there been a long-distance flight so unceremonious and impudently daring, but this irrepressible flier, who has Irish blood in his veins, risked everything, and by a combination of audacity and skill and good fortune came safely through and made transatlantic flying look ridiculously matter-of-fact."

The game of golf is possibly of Dutch origin.

Corrigan Fills Up For Long Hop

Here is Douglas P. Corrigan, intrepid red-headed American, as he loaded his old single-motored plane with the 320 gallons of gasoline which carried him non-stop from New York to Dublin, Ireland. Corrigan took off on an announced flight to Long Beach, Calif., then amazed everybody by flying in the opposite direction, out over the Atlantic, completing the crossing in a little more than 28 hours.

Santa Ana Fliers Express Admiration For Corrigan After Flight Across Ocean

"Crazy, nothin'." He knew what he was doing.

With deep admiration, most Santa Ana aviation enthusiasts today heartily applauded the "darn fool" flight yesterday that took Douglas Corrigan across a foggy Atlantic to Ireland instead of California, his official destination.

Corrigan had become a legend around Santa Ana today as all barber-shop and street-corner conversations centered around the young flier's exploit.

Out at Eddie Martin's airport, where the local aerialists appeared most astonished by the daring, "highly irregular" achievement, no one seemed to know much about 31-year-old Douglas Corrigan, who has been flitting about the Long Beach area for the past decade.

"No, he never landed here claiming it was Seattle," one local flier said. "In fact, I don't think he's ever landed here."

Though none of the Santa Ana pilots knew Corrigan, several recalled today that they had heard of him as an unassuming "lone wolf" pilot who never took much interest in "air shows or that sort of thing."

HIS POLITICS is strictly on the quiet with this Detroit bear, but that salute seems unmistakably Fascist.

FLIER'S UNCLE ONCE PASTOR IN FULLERTON

The Rev. S. Fraser Langford, uncle of Douglas Corrigan who amazed aviation experts by piloting a little old 175 horsepower monoplane from New York to Ireland yesterday, is a former pastor of the First Baptist church of Fullerton.

Rev. Langford, who held the pastorate just prior to the advent of the Rev. F. E. Hawes, present minister, was widely known for his sailing hobby and was instrumental in teaching many Fullerton young people the essentials of navigation, which he also taught Corrigan.

He and Mrs. Langford have cared for the Irish aviator for many years since the death of his parents.

"The Lord be blessed," exclaimed the Rev. Langford following the "crazy flier's" successful solo flight across the Atlantic. The uncle's immediate worry was how to forward money to his now-famous nephew, who landed in Dublin with only $15 in his pocket.

Texan Ready to Pay Any Fine of Atlantic Flier

SANTA MONICA. (AP)—W. E. (Bill) Easterwood, Dallas, Tex., banker, said today he will pay any fine the United States bureau of air commerce assesses against Douglas Corrigan for his infringement of rules in connection with his flight from New York to Dublin.

The Texas financier, who backed Capt. Dioudonne Costes and Maurice Bellonte on their flight from Europe to the United States in 1930, also called Baldonnel airport authorities at Dublin that he will take care of any expenses that might result from the young Californian's landing there yesterday. Easterwood is spending the summer here.

Jails May Be Closed For Want of Prisoners

DENVER. (AP)—The jail "business" in Colorado has taken such a decline that three counties are thinking about abandoning their lockups.

There hasn't been a prisoner in the Jackson and Summit county jails since 1935 and the Custer county lockup hasn't had an inmate since 1937.

In Kiowa county there were 18 women prisoners last year but not a single man.

How to Get In Jail

GALLUP, N. M. (AP)—An itinerant, passing through Gallup visited the sheriff's office and asked to sleep in the jail over the weekend and "rest up a bit." The sheriff told him there were no accommodations except for prisoners. So the itinerant threw a door-stop through the door glass. He got 90 days.

when you go—

EAST

It's A SIMPLE MATTER to see twice as much when you go East. Here's how:

1. Study the map. It shows Southern Pacific's FOUR SCENIC ROUTES.
2. Choose two routes over which you wish to travel
3. Then go East on one Route and come back on an entirely different SP Route. You see twice as much and, in nearly every case, it costs NO MORE RAIL FARE.

FRC Asks Bankers To Lend More Money To Business

CREDIT NEEDS MUST BE MET, AGENCY WARNS

WASHINGTON, (P)—The morning mail brought to the nation's bankers today a terse RFC appeal to lend more money to business.

Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the RFC wrote officials of all state and national banks that bank participation in RFC loans to industry was insufficient and added:

"If banking is to remain in private hands it must meet the credit needs of the country."

He directed attention to the number of bills introduced in the last session of congress providing further extension of government credit to business.

"There is still persistent talk about the establishment of industrial banks throughout the country," he said, "to be at least partially owned by the government, to provide capital for local private businesses."

"You bankers know that with our great abundance of banking resources it should not be necessary for the government to lend to private industry. You should also know that the government will be forced to lend so long as there is a substantial demand for legitimate credit which is not being met."

The federal reserve board estimates that banks have $3,150,000,000 idle and lendable funds. Commercial, industrial and agricultural loans of banks in 101 leading cities increased $5,000,000 in the week ending July 13, the board reported. The increase is the second gain in three weeks, but prior to that there had been decreases for 21 weeks.

From February to July 15, Jones said, the RFC authorized 2001 business and industrial loans totaling $85,344,788. Banks participated in only 302 of these loans aggregating $11,483,444, a figure which Jones termed inadequate.

He sent all the banks a copy of the comptroller's new regulations on investment securities and the uniform examination procedure adopted by federal and some state banking agencies. He termed the comptroller's regulations "a convenient method for making time loans in bond or serial form to business and industry."

"An amortized loan is an installment loan," Jones said. "If from one to three years are required to pay for an electric stove, a refrigerator, a washing machine or an automobile, 10 years may be necessary to pay for the plants that make them."

Florida Ghost City Reconditioned for Religious Group

INTERSECTION CITY, Fla. (P)—The Household of Faith, a non-denominational Christian sect, has taken over Intersection City, once a ghost town, and is converting it into a vocational training center for young men and women.

Promoters spent nearly a million dollars during the boom days of 1925 in developing the new city, by building a hotel, an apartment house, stores, a factory and residences.

The boom collapsed and only 12 persons were living here three years ago when J. W. Wile, Indianapolis philanthropist, gave the town and 5000 acres of land to the Household of Faith.

Miss Ossie English, leader of the movement, said persons from 19 states are now living and studying in the community. Old buildings have been renovated and new ones erected.

Those Old Ox Carts Were Built to Take It

NEW YORK, (P)—An ancient Egyptian ox cart, used for transporting sacred animals to the sacrifice, some 200 years before Christ, is on view at the New York Museum of Science and Industry in Rockefeller Center.

The cart was found in a vault of an old temple on the banks of the Nile, which was undergoing excavation some years ago. So securely had the walls of the vault been sealed when the cart was placed there that, although the wall below high water mark, no water had penetrated during any of the river's many inundations.

The wood, although deeply grooved by age, is still firm.

announced later by Smith and Tuthill. COWAN—Miss Adda B. Cowan died today at her home, 214 South Sycamore street. She is survived by a sister, Miss Minnie Cowan, and a brother, W. C. Cowan. Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. from Smith and Tuthill's chapel, with the Rev. Albert Eakin Kelly officiating, and burial in Fairhaven cemetery.

Funeral Notice

vin Charles Warner, who died July 17. WARNER—Funeral services for Mr. Warner will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Brown and Wagner Colonial chapel, with the Rev. Forest Woodside officiating and burial in Westminster Memorial park.

VIGIL—Funeral services for Juanita Vigil, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Vigil of Westminster, were held today at Westminster Memorial park, with Brown and Wagner in charge.

PLUMBERS AND BOAT MEN AT BOARD MEET

the ordinance would be made enforceable by zoning, exempting portions of districts rather than all of one district. He and Fris said they would cooperate in drafting a new ordinance.

BIDS NOT SOUGHT
On the boat situation Howard appeared to protest letting of a contract for the new $6567 fire and life-saving boat without advertised bids. Supervisors and Menton said advertised bids were not necessary because the purchaser was not the county, but the harbor district.

Purchasing Agent Eugene Feneelon, summoned to read the specifications on which the Peyton Boat works was awarded the contract, said he had "entire confidence" in Charles E. McAlary, with whom the contract was negotiated. "This boat," declared Howard, "will either save lives or kill people. Why was not a capable naval architect consulted? You five men can be held individually responsible for this. You don't know what sort of boat you're getting. . . the white pine in your specifications is used only for cheap commercial vessels, not for lifesaving; there's no speed requirement in the specifications—why, if this boat moves at all you've got to accept it."

CONFIDENCE IN BUILDER

"Gentlemen, there are only two things lacking: you need a galley stove and an icebox, and you've got a nice play boat."

Feneelon admitted Howard's charges that the builder was not put under bond, that no naval architect was consulted before the specifications were drawn, that no plans were made and that there was no speed requirement, but reiterated he had "absolute confidence" in the builder.

Menton was instructed to review proceedings to see if the contract was awarded legally. If so, supervisors said, their action would stand.

I Just Found Out About Orange County Hot Water

By MILLARD BROWNE

The beach may beckon majority of Southern Californians these summer week-ends, but there are some 500 tired businessmen each summer Sunday who head in a different direction, and end up in the comparatively bleak, sometimes sweltering Carbon Canyon country.

What for? Principally to get healthy, after the ritzy fashion of the Continent, where society does its lolling at some swanky "spa"—mineral spring, to you (and to the cross-word puzzlers).

Orange county has its own spa, and the people who run it, will match their mineral water, health baths with the "est Europe" has to offer. They've done it, in fact, and experts have claimed the Carbon Canyon water is as much bigger and better as you'd expect of a California product.

The La Vida Mineral Springs (they sell water to the bottling company, otherwise are not connected with it) attracts 500-odd people every summer week-end and holiday, most of them coming from the Los Angeles area. The best season is from June 1 to Oct. 1, when people come from all over the Southland for a Sunday of bathing and treatment.

In charge of the Carbon Canyon sanitarium and resort is W. N. Miller, with Dr. Edward Milligan, a medical hydrology expert, administering treatments and generally looking after the hospital.

The sanitarium has capacity for 22 patients, but the baths have little trouble handling the 500 Sunday visitors. Sanitarium patients usually stay three or four weeks, mostly come there with such diseases as rheumatism, arthritis or stomach ailments.

Ordinary procedure for the occasional visitor is to drop in sometime Sunday, take the health bath, "cool off" in a steam room, get a massage, shower, look around outside, then leave.

Water at the hot springs flows at 118 degrees temperature in a steady stream (60,000 gallons a day). It's brought into the two big rows of Roman baths at 105 degrees, and visitors soak in the baths 15 or 20 minutes.

When they've started to sweat, they go into the "hot room," and attendants concern themselves of the patients as ready to "shovel coal" after another 15 or 20 minutes there.

Just what the mineral water does, no one knows. It's so "potent," even when cold, that it would knock a patient out if he inhaled it too long. (One old-time patient can stand the water for an hour, but he's been at it years and years.)

Only explanation for the water's action, Dr. Milligan explains, is that it's a hypothesis, a possibility that the "health potion" may be active rays, which are more of a mystery to science than the baffling cosmic rays.

Under the doctor's hypothesis, the water, though it is taken from only 14,000 feet deep, has chemical properties that indicate that it actually comes from a depth of 50,000 feet. He is assuming the water preserves these rays, and uses them in a beneficial way on human tissues.

Actual effect of the water, Dr. Milligan claims, is to make human organs function better by eliminating toxic matter that causes both fatigue and disease in the cells. This hypothesis is strengthened by the fact that the water seems to perk up tired bodies as well as curing some muscular, skin and functional diseases. He makes no claim that the water is a cure-all.

The mineral springs, started when water started flowing 10 years ago while workers were drilling for well, actually consists of five separate waters—including sulphur and magnesium waters—but only the La Vida water is used in treatments and baths.

Treatments, as distinct from the regular baths, consist largely of internal flushing. Water works better for this than any other water Dr. Milligan has seen, because its contents are virtually "pre-digested" and ready to be assimilated into the body without any digestive working. Treatment machine was designed specially by Dr. Milligan, includes such innovations in internal flushing treatment as a pressure-gauge, automatic water control.

Many patients at the mineral springs sanitarium have made the rounds of all the specialists, have tried diets and other cures, come there as a resort. Since their condition is carefully diagnosed to see whether the treatments would help before they're accepted, most of them find relief.

Latest experiment at the sanitarium has been with Berger's disease, which still baffles medical science. One "last resort" patient came there with all the symptoms of Berger's disease, left six weeks later apparently healed. He sent two friends, who subsequently took the treatment, and now Dr. Milligan is keeping his fingers

San Juan Hot Springs Health Center Will Be Topic Tonight

COAST ASS'N TO ASSEMBLE AT NEWPORT

NEWPORT BEACH.—Further plans for the establishment of a national health and recreational center at San Juan Hot Springs, and a junior college district for southern Orange county will be studied by the Orange County Coast association tonight.

Sec. Harry Welch urges a large attendance for the important dinner-meeting, which will be held at 6:30 in Wilson's cafe on the bay front, near the ferry to Balboa island.

Dr. Spencer Miller, who recently spent several days in Washington, D. C., interviewing forestry and park officials in regard to developing a public health and recreational center at San Juan Hot Springs, will make his report to the association, one of the staunch sponsors of the plan.

There are numerous hot springs privately-operated, but we feel Orange county needs a free springs and recreational center of hundreds of acres, open to the public at a nominal charge for maintenance," Secretary Welch said, in urging all members to be present to hear Dr. Miller's report.

Fourteen members of a coast junior college committee who have been working jointly with a committee comprised of representatives from inland cities, including Santa Ana, are expected to report on the establishment of a proposed junior college for southern Orange county.

Another important report from the naval committee is anticipated by Carl Hankey, president.

The association was to have met in Long Beach tonight, but this date owing to the absence of K. P. Frederick, Long Beach host who is on vacation, Welch said.

YORBA LINDAN HEADS POST

PLACENTIA.—O. D. Beck, Yorba Linda district rancher, was named commander of the Placentia American Legion post at the annual election here last night. He succeeds Oscar Clever of Buena Park.

Adolph Friend was elected first vice president, Ray Sherman second vice president and Jess Wood adjutant.

Beck, a member of the Santa Ana post of Disabled American Veterans of the World war, served in the first division of the 18th infantry during the war.

Orange Man Faces Drunk Driving

Frank Olivas, 30, route 2, box 85, Orange, faced drunk driving charges today as the result of a collision in which both participants escaped injury at the intersection of Placentia avenue and La Jolla road, a mile and a half northwest of Anaheim yesterday evening.

Olivas' car struck an auto driven by Thomas W. Carpenter, 69, Atwood, witnesses told highway patrolmen.

$50 Stolen from Car; Owner Swims

Albert Struck of Orange is not at all sure that swimming isn't too expensive a pastime. Struck told authorities yesterday he lost $50, cached in a wallet in his car, parked overlooking Corona Del Mar's beach. When he returned from his swim, he said, the wallet was gone.

Tool House Looted

Burglary of an oil tool house at Florida and Garfield streets, owned by William Iverson and Don Jerome, was reported to the sheriff's office yesterday afternoon. Deputies found a padlock had been sawed off a door and that wrenches and dies were missing. Iverson said no one had visited the tool house for the past two weeks.

Home Entered

Burglars, apparently small boys, broke into the Arthur Klein home at Magnolia and Cerritos avenues yesterday afternoon in Klein's absence, he told the sheriff's office. Missing when he returned was $4.50 in silver and a package of cigarettes from a dresser drawer.

VICTORIA FILM SEIZED While morning traffic was at its busiest, about three youths entered the Astor cinema in Dublin, Ireland, held up the attendants and stole the complete film of "Victoria the Great," which was to have started its run there in the afternoon. They escaped with the film in an automobile. The picture had been previewed by a group of Republicans. The manager had to run "Young and Innocent" in the afternoon in place of the Victoria film.

crossed until he learns whether the cure is permanent. Since even the La Vida owners aren't sure just what the water will do, they have hinted they may launch a research program.

The Core.. No More

YORBA LINDA.—Mayor C. T. Johnson of San Bernardino, prospective Republican nominee for congress in the 18th district, who was to address the Townsend club here tonight, will speak July 28 instead, according to a change in plans received by N. W. Reneker, Townsend club president.

ANAHEIM.—A transient swarm of buzzing bees cluttered up the entrance to the Lee Shoe store, West Center street, here yesterday, causing traffic congestion.

NEWPORT BEACH.—President Tom Talbert announces that golfers of the Orange County Coast association will disband through July and August, resuming play in September with a tournament at the Santa Anita golf course.

BUENA PARK.—Mrs. Frank Wilsey is installed as president of the Junior Auxiliary of the Women's club, with Mrs. Walter Ross of Anaheim conducting the ceremony.

YORBA LINDA.—Colonel Walter Lowe, Yorba, and Mrs. A. J. Olson, Yorba Linda, have been selected as campaign managers here for Culbert L. Olson, Democratic candidate for Governor. Orange county headquarters for Olson are located at 608 North Main street, Santa Ana.

PLACENTIA.—City council tonight will study figures covering actual cost of a proposed small city park, a city hall structure and a municipal water system. Upon receipt of the figures, it is expected that application for federal aid on the three combined projects will be filed with PWA.

NEWPORT BEACH.—Helen Randel, newly-elected president of the American Legion Auxiliary, will be installed by the district president, Pauline Cleary of Tustin, in ceremonies here next Monday night.

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Postal receipts here during the fiscal year just closed show a $1202 increase, mainly in air mail business. Postmaster J. E. Huston announces.

BREA.—Residents of this community, headed by Ralph McGuire and a committee of Dr. C. G. Curtis, J. E. Witten, Avery Brown and Jack Pate, are continuing efforts to secure a new postoffice building. Brea was one of six Orange county communities ascertained promised postoffices last year.

FULLERTON.—Thomas MacMaster, circulation manager of the News-Tribune here, underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis yesterday. His condition is reported as good as can be expected.

ANAHEIM.—Residents mopped their brows here yesterday, as the temperature soared to a maximum 90 degrees at 1 p. m. Hottest day of the year was last Thursday when the mercury reached 91.

BUENA PARK.—The Rev. La Rue Watson of this community has accepted appointment as evangelist.

New Anaheim Plant Ships First Car of Products East; Even Citrus Seed Yields Oil

ANAHEIM.—The first carload of products from the $300,000 by-products plant of Cal-Juices, Inc., left here yesterday for markets in Buffalo, N. Y. The plant's capacity, it was revealed today following open house last week which attracted 3300 visitors, is 125 tons of citrus a day, including oranges, lemons and grapefruit.

The fruit juices are canned, and peelings are used for extracts and concentrates, with the oils bottled. After extraction of concentrates from the peel, it is ground, pulverized and dried, and then used for cow feed. Even the seeds yield oil.

Production Manager Guy Baker said the plant would operate three eight-hour shifts a day, employing 35 men to operate machinery each shift. It is the biggest and most modern by-products plant in the world, Baker said.

MODIST MAIDENS

Three marlin were taken from Catalina waters during the week, and it looks like the season has started with a bang. Two of the three fish weighed in on the Tuna club scales at 331 and 383 pounds. The third tipped the beam at 176 pounds.

Surf fishing was good during the week, with Tuesday night reported as the best of the season as far as local fishing is concerned. Several big corbina have been taken, weighing upwards to six pounds. Several members of the South Coast Rod and Gun club spent Thursday evening on the strand below San Clemente for a general outing, and those fishing averaged five fish to the person. Corbina and yellowfin croaker comprised the take.

Members of the Rod and Gun club have been informed by City Atty. Harvey that an old city ordinance has been uncovered regarding the pulling of muscles from local rocks. The ordinance limits the take to 25 pounds per person per day, and Harvey assures the sportsmen that every effort will be made to enforce the ordinance. So perhaps the fishermen can stop the commercial bait men from stripping the local rocks.

Two very prominent San Diego boats will soon be running Catalina waters from Long Beach, bringing with them their famed San Diego service and equipment. These boys have been in the fishing game for many years, and boast a large following from this section. They are good fishermen and will be a welcome addition to the Long Beach fleet.

NEWPORT MAN TOPS O'CONNOR COUNTY GROUP

The O'Connor for Governor organization has been completed. Mayor Harry Williamson, of Newport Beach was elected chairman for Orange county, and Mrs. Claudia Worswick, prominent Santa Ana Democrat, was elected co-chairman.

A committee of Orange county Democrats was elected as follows: Judge Bentley, Westminster; Edna Cooper, Huntington Beach; Grace Collins, Seal Beach; Wallace Blair, Garden Grove; C. L. Barnett, Cypress; Joseph Shea, Anaheim; A. E. Lynes, Brea; Ruby Hungerford and Riley Reed, La Habra; Gordon Chick and Thomas Bowen, Orange; Mrs. Bentley Nelson, Santa Ana; O. W. Householder, Tustin; Claude Pullen and A. B. Cline, Corona Del Mar; Joe Payne, Costa Mesa; Mrs. Virginia Rouse, Villa Park; R. C. Parker, Newport Beach, Carl Benson and Carl English, Laguna Beach.

Headquarters are now open in Santa Ana, Orange, and Huntington Beach, and will be increased to eight in the near future, including Anaheim, Fullerton, Newport Beach, Seal Beach, and Laguna Beach.

The present run of tuna at the island is furnishing the best angling these waters have produced in many years. Takes of tuna for the past four days have been excellent. Emil Wickman, Kenneth Wyan of Culver City, and your reporter board the Kloria at Santa Clara avenue, landing in Long Beach at 2:30 a. m. Saturday, and headed for Long Point at Catalina. At 12:15 p. m. we were back on the dock with six of the 56 tuna taken by the anglers on this boat. Wickman accounted for three, Wyan one, and yours truly two.

These tuna are everything but shy. Many of the fish were taken with small baits dropped over the side of the boat. You didn't need a sense of feeling to tell when you had a bite—you could see the fish dart out from under the boat, grab your bait, and start out to sea. Someone was hooked up almost as soon as we were standing on the superstructure of the boat fighting a fish, we could see eight other anglers hooked up. We estimate at least 150 tons of tuna were hooked during the day. That, my friends, is fishing.

Captain Billy Rice from First Street landing in San Pedro has had good fishing during the week. For four days, Wednesday through Saturday, the big Sunline III accounted for 204 tuna, in addition to good catches of yellows, barracuda and white sea bass. Saturday the boat accounted for 74 tuna. Billy says the bait is perfect, and there is plenty of it.

It looks like the fish famine days at San Diego are over. According to reports from the Star and Crescent company, yellows have invaded the Coronado Island waters, and have been taking bait readily. White sea bass catches have held up well, and a few tuna have been taken. Art Ponsford reports the tuna taken Wednesday were skinned up a bit, and that they had evidently escaped from the net of a purse seiner.

The latter part of the week found the Newport-Balboa boats taking good catches of barracuda, some white sea bass, and lots of small yellows. There seems to be quite a discussion over these yellows. Some claim they are a strange fish to these waters, and are not yellowtail. They base their claim on the fact that the meat of these fish is whiter and far better eating than that of our yellowtail. These fish are also reported very gamey and it is not unusual for them to break water. The discussion will soon be settled, as a specimen has been sent to state headquarters for identification.

FISHING ALONG THE COAST —with— ANDY ANDERSON

WEEK ENDING JULY 17 Ocean anglers were well satisfied with conditions during the week, and found good fishing all along the coast. Santa Monica bay was the one troublesome place, where the red water off the southern coast line moved in and had quite an effect on early week fishing. Mid-week found the water clearing and catches returning to normal, while Saturday produced good takes of barracuda, bass, halibut and white sea bass for the boats in this area.

Albacore appeared in good numbers in the Catalina channel waters, and good catches of the fish have been taken by the trolling boats. Several of the live bait boats going to the island have returned with catches as high as 35 of the long-finned tuna, but they have not been taken by the leather lures while going to and returning from these fishing banks.

The present run of tuna at the island is furnishing the best angling these waters have produced in many years. Takes of tuna for the past four days have been excellent. ## BOARD SUE FOR $34,730 BY RANCHERS

County supervisors, as a board and as individuals were sued today in superior court for $34,730 because of damage to 23 acres of West Anaheim ranch land in the March floods.

Suit was brought against the county, the flood control district, the board of supervisors and Supervisor Willard Smith, N. E. West, John Mitchell, Harry Riley and Steele Finley individually by Arthur and Marie Hartlet and Jerome D. and Mary D. Wallace.

The board, the plaintiffs claim, knew the West Anaheim spreading basin was badly constructed and dangerous and had the money to make repairs, but failed to do so even after notice by property owners that damage would result to their land and orange groves.

Junior Ebell Committees Named

With a month of vacationing from Junior Ebell duties behind her, Miss Elizabeth Smith, newly installed president of that prominent organization, today released her listing of standing committees for the coming year, and at the same time made announcement for Mrs. Fred Burelew, new welfare chairman, that last year's successful rummage sale will be repeated. However, the working committee has decided to hold this year's event early in September, before school begins. Since there will be no general club meeting before the sale, members are urged to hold their discarded articles of clothing in readiness for the call which will be made to them late in August.

Working with Mrs. Burelew on the welfare committee will be Mrs. Hans Wahlberg, well-baby clinic, and Mrs. L. C. Davidson, layettes. Assistants for the rummage sale will be announced later.

Mrs. George H. Walker, program chairman, will call a meeting of her committee next month to plan the year's monthly programs. Working with her will be Mrs. Claude Brakehill, Mrs. Q. L. Hardy, and Miss Ruth Fitz.

On the social committee with Mrs. R. M. Conklin will be Miss Ruth Bradley, Mrs. James Workman, Mrs. John Newman, Mrs. James Merigold, Mrs. Adrian Marks, Mrs. Burt Zaiser, Miss Muriel Matzen, and Miss Mary Nalls.

Mrs. Carleton Smith, as editor of the monthly news letter, will be aided by Miss Mary Tuthill, Mrs. Clyde Higgins, and Mrs. Linus Southwick.

On the membership committee with Mrs. E. Lee Smith will be Mrs. Kenneth Price, Mrs. Alvin Stauffer, Mrs. Charles McDaniel, Jr., Miss Gwen Griffin, and Miss Marian Brownridge.

Heading this year's scholarship committee will be Mrs. Bruce Anderson with Mrs. Nevell Vandermast and Mrs. Milton Poppert. On the house committee will be Mrs. Ralph Cunningham will be Mrs. Francis Norton and Mrs. Robert U. Smith. Mrs. Perry Davis is courtesy chairman, Mrs. Harold Harvey is historian, Mrs. Claude Brakehill is parliamentarian, and on the auditing committee are Mrs. Patsy Gilpin, Miss Alma McClain, and Mrs. Daniel Jones.

KING'S GUARD HAS INTERESTING MEETING

The mid-month meeting of King's Guard of the First Methodist church was happy and profitable one yesterday with children working on gay scrapbooks for use in the children's wards of mission hospitals. They also started rehearsal of a playlet they plan to give soon.

Miss Flora Margaret Howland presided over a business session, with Richard Leurs officiating at the stewardship ritual.

Bobbie Fox, program chairman, presented Miss Grace Margaret Howland at the piano and Mrs. C. H. Jeffrey, who told a group of stories. Bobbie Fox, Grace Margaret Howland, Flora Margaret Howland, Martha Ann Richards and Mary Richards joined in singing several songs.

The afternoon was concluded with a refreshment course served by Mrs. F. E. Hearne.

MRS. JEWETT WILL GO TO HOLY LAND

Plans for a return visit to Egypt and the Holy Land are now being made by Mrs. Margaret Jewett of the Rossmore hotel, who is one of Santa Ana's most tireless and constant travelers.

Mrs. Jewett will leave Friday, July 29, going by steamship to New York and from there sailing on the S. S. Excelsior.

Her previous travels have taken her all over the world, and her present trip marks a return to her favorite spots, Jerusalem and Cairo.

Hundreds Are Guests Of Hermosa

Hermosa chapter's annual party night last night at the Masonic temple was unusually successful, with an attendance of more than 120 visiting officers with more than 150 visiting "side-liners," with escort honors being accorded to 12 visiting worthy matrons and to six worthy patrons. San Clemente, Norwalk, Los Angeles, Santa Ana, Huntington Beach, Corona, Orange, Fullerton, Artesia, Anaheim, Garden Grove, Torrance, La Habra, Whittier, Brea and Laguna chapters were represented.

Tremendous attention to detail had been exerted, with a particularly beautiful way of arranging flowers. Not only was each guest presented with a lovely corsage upon arrival, but giant bouquets of gladioli had been arranged at each officer's station, creating a most colorful vista in the long hall. Each basket was of color to correspond with that particular officer's station colors, and the result was like a rainbow.

In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Barker, Jean Bohlander, and Nellie Bruns, while officiating in the honor roles of worthy matron and worthy patron were Helen Lunker and Fred Pope. Presenting the corsages to guests as they arrived were Gussie Cribaro, Helen Hildreth, Nell Neighbour, Helen Mabe, Anna Ream and Agnes Lindig, while those who aided in arranging the flowers were Beattie Moore, Gussie Cribaro, Ella Strassberger, Laura McCormack, Elizabeth Smith and Helen Hildreth.

After the customary elaborate ritual, Clara Seaver, associate matron of Hermosa chapter, who acted as general chairman of the entire affair was introduced, and presented three talented entertainers, Emma Henry, Garden Grove matron, gave two whistling solos, and F. A. Andrews and Mrs. Mix each sang in charming fashion.

The evening was climaxed by a refreshment course in the banquet hall, where once again the fair-weather color scheme was carried out for each officer had a range of her own long table in her own color. The general motif was of vacation time, and most elaborate scenes of favorite travel spots decorated the tables, each of which was centered with a beautiful floral bowl.

Edith Hancock, was decoration chairman with Edith Snow arranging many of the effective table scenes. Vada Berry served as refreshment chairman.

PARENTS ARE HONORED ON JOINT BIRTHDAY

The remarkable coincidence of dual birthday anniversaries for Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Brader has frequently occasioned gay parties in their honor, but most enjoyable one to date was that at which they both celebrated their 50th anniversary and were surprised on the occasion with a party attended by all their children.

It was contrived that they should be at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Coy Watts, at Balboa, when all the other children arrived bearing gifts and tokens for their parents. After a delicious supper the entire group presented Mr. and Mrs. Brader with a handsome silver coffee urn.

Present were Mrs. James Ridgeway of Fresno, Mrs. Arthur Bricker of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Murphy of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Coy Watts, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Storm, Mrs. Esther Rannels, Lloyd Miller and Hobart Brader with the honored guests.

Professor and Mrs. John Bartlow (Edna Beatty) spent several days this week as guests of the M. B. Wellingtons, visiting with Mrs. Mac Robbins and Miss Doris Robbins among other old friends.

The Bartlows are residents of New Orleans where he is a high school instructor. Mrs. Bartlow was formerly of Santa Ana.

They have gone north for a short visit, and then will return to spend more time with the Wellingtons in their Lemon Heights home.

Art exhibitions in Dublin, Ireland, are attracting crowds far greater than the city has known in years and sales of paintings have been unusually large.

Up at Pagonip they were the most formal. That's the new horse-lovers' club where two grand polo fields have been manipulated out of the hills, and the old weathered wood clubhouse has a very horsey spirit in a most pleasant eastern way. An invitation to dinner for the young officers was going on there—and for that reason everyone was in dinner frock. I think there was more lace than anything else about—on all ages and ranging from tailored beige cotton shirtmaker types to romantic and full skirted affairs. Then I recall an interesting grey silk topped by a school-boy blouse—full-sleeved—of black lace and a tangerine silk sash. But there were organdies and printed piques and other cottons, too, on the young girls.

Lovely Pasatiempo was formal, too, although quite a number out on the floor just wore printed silk with daytime skirt length. It was very "dotty" up there—as far as fluke of fashion went. For no less than three of the most smartly dressed women on the floor wore polka dots—those sophisticated little dabs of modernity.

One was upon a navy ground and the dress had a fitted jacket. Another had coin-sized dots and the bodice top was trimmed in white pique and there was a matching bolero. And still a third used dots to form wide band effects—and this was blue and white satin.

MARRY STODDARD

Self-Confidence, Personality Are Principal Items in 'Getting Your Man'

How to meet an eligible man and marry him?

That is still a question that floods departments like this one, year in and year out—Sometimes the query is from a girl who lives in the country or a small town, who thinks she has no opportunity to meet a man she would consider as a matrimonial bet.

Scarcely does a day pass that there isn't a plea from a girl or woman living in the city asking where or how to meet men who might be interested in having a good wife, home and family. These queries are from girls ranging from sweet 16 to fair 40.

The girl in the small town thinks the answer to her problem lies in the city. If they could only live a year or two in the city then they would have a chance to meet interesting men.

But alas—in the city girls mean because there is no way to meet them, interesting or otherwise. So the city girl, if she can afford it, hires herself to some country resort located in the mountains, by the ocean beach or tall trees—

There is only one answer, so far as I can figure, to all of these plaints from matrimonially inclined ladies and girls—if you can't find your man one place, the chances are you won't find him in another locale.

Changing your surroundings won't change your technique, and it is usually the latter that is responsible for a marked scarcity of men.

Instead of trying your luck in a different part of the country, or sitting around wishing you could, it would be more sensible to carefully study the girl or woman who doesn't seem to have difficulty in meeting men. Say quite frankly, "What has she got that I haven't got?"—and then watch her until you can answer the question.

You'll probably find that it isn't brains, money or even beauty. Certainly, one thing you'll notice is that she has self-confidence. And you'll probably see, too, that she has a quality of aliveness. Don't be surprised if she laughs easily, but that doesn't mean that she giggles self-consciously. Or if she is fundamentally though light-heartedly kind in her manner toward everyone and that she has a knack of making people like themselves.

Girls aren't born knowing how to meet men. It is an art, and one that can be acquired at home as well as it can in some far part of the country. The quickest way to learn it is to watch an expert—in action.

NOTED ACTRESS TO READ PLAY HERE TOMORROW

"Our Town," the play by Thornton Wilder which won the Victory Award of the Theatre Arts magazine last year, is to be read at the fortnightly play-review tea at the Unitarian church Wednesday of this week.

In place of Miss Marion Bruner, who was originally scheduled to read it, Mrs. Margaret Vinton of Los Angeles will present the drama. She is a professional actress of many years' experience, both in the legitimate theater and in the movies. While on Broadway she played under the direction of most of the famous directors of the post-war period, including William A. Brady and John Cromwell. Her early stage work included San Francisco's best theaters.

For the past 10 years Mrs. Vinton has been engaged in Hollywood, and many will remember her roles in "Go Chase Yourself" with Joe Penner; in "Our Little Girl" with Shirley Temple, and more recently, with Mary Astor in "And So They Were Married." Santa Ana residents who enjoyed the musical opera, "Roberta," at the Philharmonic auditorium this spring will remember her in an important supporting role.

Anyone interested in hearing her reading of "Our Town" is cordially invited to attend the review at 4 p. m., to be followed by tea at 5 p. m.

SANTA ANA PARENTS VISIT OSCEOLA

A number of Santa Ana parents took the opportunity of an open-house invitation from councilors at Camp Osceola to drive up to the camp and visit their sons on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stauffer visited their sons, Billy and Robbie, and were accompanied to Osceola by Mrs. Paul Ragan, who enjoyed seeing her boys, Bruce and Jerry. Mr. and Mrs. James Dixon were also there to see Jimmie.

Among the many others were Mr. and Mrs. George Parker to see Ted, accompanied by Mrs. Loren Mead of China, whose son is there, and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cole, calling on their son, Wendell.

FORMER LOCAL MAN INJURED

Mrs. Sophia Schroeder of Lincoln street today received word that her daughter's husband, Emery W. Lamp, was taken to St. Vincent's hospital last night with a broken neck.

He had been injured in an accident at Berkeley a week ago, but the neck injury was not discovered at the time. Mrs. Lamp formerly taught at Frances Willard junior high school here.

HUBERT NALL IS HONORED IN PANAMA

News that Hubert Nall, Jr., who, with his classmate, Frederico Arzeta, is en route to Ecuador, was highly honored at Panama, was received yesterday by his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Hubert Nall of North Flower street. The U. S. C. youth was guest of the mayor of Panama and the director of the locks at luncheon while their ship was going through the canal. They were to arrive at Quito this week.

Dr. and Mrs. Nall had as house guest over the week-end Leo Arzeta, who did not return to his home this summer, but is attending extra session at U. S. C. They, with Miss Frances Nall, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nelson and Marilyn and Natalie, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. McPadden, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Daniger, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hill, enjoyed a beach supper party together.

Earlier in the week the Travel club to which the Nalls belong had a gala time, driving to the new Continental cafe in Los Angeles for dinner and later attending Sally Rand's vaudeville show. In the group were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ragan, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Daniger, Mr. and Mrs. William Stauffer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swanner, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Welch of Fullerton, and the Nalls.

Tips For Good Jelly Are Given

One of the fundamental rules in jelly-making technique is "reduce cooking time to the minimum."

Cooking fruit overlong reduces the jelling power of the pectin, destroys fine fruit flavor and often spoils the color. For this reason, use a minimum of water. Excess water will have to be cooked off and that will unnecessarily lengthen cooking time.

In order to extract pectin, boil fruits until they are soft. Naturally, the more firm the fruit, the more water will be needed, and the longer will be the time of cooking.

Quinces, a very firm fruit, take about 2 cups of water to a pound of fruit. And it takes from 20 to 25 minutes to boil them soft. Red raspberries, on the other hand, need only be crushed with no water added. And they take only from 5 to 10 minutes to cook to the right stage for extracting the juice.

Stirring Prevents Scorching Another way to speed up cooking time—besides using the minimum amount of water—is to use a large, flat-bottomed pan that permits rapid evaporation. Remember, of course, to count cooking time only after the fruit comes to a boil. Stir fruit constantly to prevent scorching.

After fruit has been boiled until it is soft, pour it at once into a jelly bag. Let the juice drip, and press the bag to get every bit of juice. Clarify the juice by straining it again through a fresh jelly bag that has been wrung from hot water.

Next comes the second period of cooking for the fruit, although now it's in the form of juice.

And here it is that modern jelly making differs radically from the old. Formerly it was the practice to cook the juice first, until it had become fairly concentrated, then to add the sugar.

Today, jelly experts advise combining the sugar with the juice before heating. This cuts down the cooking time. And sugar tends to prevent destruction of the pectin.

Here again, it's a good plan to use a large, flat-bottomed pan for cooking. Stir the sugar and juice until the sugar is dissolved. Then boil the mixture rapidly, until the jelly stage is reached. How long this will take depends upon the fruit. With currants, for example, the juice and sugar usually need to be boiled only a short time. Other fruits less rich in pectin and acid, take longer.

To test jelly, dip a large spoon into the boiling syrup. Lift the spoon so that the syrup runs off the side. When the syrup no longer runs off the spoon in a steady stream, but separates, instead, in two distinct lines of drops, which "sheet" together, stop the cooking.

TENNESSEE PICNIC ENJOYED

Reminiscences of their life in Tennessee were greatly enjoyed by a group of local people who drove to the annual Tennessee picnic at Ganeshia park, Pomona, last Sunday.

They lunched together in the park, where there was music and public speaking. Going from here were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wyne, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Wyne, with their house guest, Ed Wyne of Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Snow, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Lane, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Berry Hendard, Mr. and Mrs. Don Baker, Mrs. A. D. Jordan and Miss Ruth Garst.

MRS. DAMA SMITH GIVES ANNUAL DINNER

Carrying out her custom of giving an annual family dinner, but varying this year in its location, Mrs. Dama Smith was hostess at an enjoyable affair Sunday.

Previously her party has been held at Irvine park, but this year she was privileged to give it in the lovely George Smith garden.

Since it is a glory of roses and zinnias in full bloom, no other decorations were necessary, although a beautiful bouquet of lavender dahlias graced the table.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Smith of Wasco, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Peek, Arnold Peek, Mrs. Jennie Peek and Miss Lucille Jones of Westport.

ANAHEIM TEA FORECASTS NUPTIALS

A number of Santa Anans were guests at a charming tea given Sunday in the home of Mrs. R. L. Coons of Anaheim, when she and her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Seward, were co-hostesses.

The lovely affair was to announce the forthcoming marriage of Miss Bertie Caldwell and Charles Smith of Imperial valley. The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Porter of Fullerton, and is well-known throughout the county.

LOCAL FOLK RETURN FROM ALASKA CRUISE

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hatzfeld of Tustin, Mrs. Corilyn Thompson, who was their guest for the trip, and Mrs. Frank Browning, who joined them, returned Saturday night from a two weeks' trip to Alaska.

They went by train to Seattle where they took the steamer for the inner passage, going as far as Lake Bennett above Skagway. They particularly enjoyed the scenery they found at Lake Tazewell.

They and Miss Elizabeth Heemstra of Santa Ana were part of the Howard Brown touring party of 99 people. Their party had almost an entire deck for its personnel, and they traveled a total of 5000 miles.

Word Awaited On S. P. Track Abandonment To Santa Ana

OBJECTIONS TO PROPOSAL
REVEALED TO LOCAL GROUP

Proposal for abandonment of flood-damaged Southern Pacific railroad tracks into Santa Ana lay on the desks of high S. P. officials in San Francisco today, as local civic and chamber of commerce officials sat back and hoped they had not delayed their idea too long.

Highly attentive, but entirely non-committal, District Superintendent C. F. Donnat, Southern Pacific's Los Angeles representative, last week heard a committee of Santa Anans present their suggestion for a joint trackage agreement between S. P. and Santa Fe.

AWAIT WORD FROM S. F.
Today both Donnat and Santa Ana exponents of the plan were awaiting word from the San Francisco office of the railroad company.

While showing considerable interest in the proposal, Donnat pointed out the more apparent objections which would have to be overcome.

1. All plans have been made for reconstruction of the flood-wrecked bridge across the Santa Ana river; final approval of the state railroad commission, county and railroad officials has been received, and all materials have been purchased.

SANTA FE O. K. NEEDED
2. Even if Southern Pacific agreed to use the Santa Fe tracks, consent of Santa Fe still would have to be obtained, and recent litigation between the two corporations might make an amicable arrangement difficult.

3. The Southern Pacific bond setup is based on certain rail lines; removal of the rails in this area might remove the security for the bonds, and consent of bondholders would be necessary before the agreement could be effected.

Sale of S. P.'s right-of-way as desirable residence property, Santa Anans argue, probably would eliminate the last objection, since the proceeds would be sufficient to retire the bonds.

OPEN HOME AREA
The plan as conceived by Santa Ana chamber of commerce representatives and now being pressed jointly by the chamber and city council calls for abandonment of the S. P. line just north of the county farm where it would be "spurred" into the Santa Fe line, which is believed capable of handling all traffic for both lines. Southern Pacific operates no passenger service in Santa Ana.

Abandonment of the line, local officials argue, would open up desirable residence property in the high-class Santa Ana boulevard district, and it would eliminate several hazardous grade crossings.

COURT DROPS
MORALS CASE

Bernard Rodriguez, 56-year-old Irwindale laborer, was free today of felony charges of kidnapping and a morals offense because the statute of limitations had expired on the crimes of which he was accused.

Rodriguez was released after a week-end arrest by Deputy Sheriffs William Trapp, Steve Duhart and James Musick in Pomona.

He was named as one of a trio which took Mrs. Mickey Dean of Long Beach into the foothills after a beer party and attacked her. Two other men were sentenced to prison terms for the crime.

Justice Chris Pann of Huntington Beach ordered Rodriguez released after officers explained the age of the charge against him.

Suspected Vagrant Demands Jury Trial Before Local Court
Emil Matejak, 24, Los Angeles laborer, today had demanded a jury trial to prove him guilty or innocent of "wandering about from place to place without visible means of support," legal language for vagrancy.

Matejak pleaded not guilty yesterday in Santa Ana justice court. Trial was set for Aug. 4 and bail was fixed at $500.

The defendant was arrested by deputy sheriffs Saturday afternoon at the Vincent Borchard ranch in the Greenville district, after Borchard had reported a man loitering about the property.

Former Residents Of Topeka Meet
Former residents of Topeka, Kan., will gather Saturday, Aug. 20, in Bixby park, Long Beach.

No program will be arranged, said Roy Payne, secretary of the Topeka society of Southern California. Those attending will bring their own lunch, but coffee will be free.

Ticket To Paris?

Ships Like These Will Put Flights to Europe on a Business Basis

Next summer you may be able to step up to your travel agent and get an airplane ticket to Europe. Because long before Howard Hughes proved how fast you can get there, aviation companies were planning transatlantic hops on a paying basis.

Fifty or more survey flights are scheduled this summer and four countries are lining up contenders for the North Atlantic business. Here are some of the planes they are entering:

BRITAIN'S ENTRY is this famed pick-a-back combination of the Imperial Airways. The little plane, Mercury, is launched in mid-air from the big plane, Maia. Such a scheme lessens the danger a heavily-loaded plane faces on the take-off. The Mercury is designed to carry 2500 pounds of mail or freight.

THE FRENCH are counting on this 64-passenger seaplane, Lieutenant de Vaisseau Paris. This is the ship that turned over in a squall off Florida two years ago, but it's been rebuilt. France, the only interested country that made no survey flights last year, has ordered two 66-ton seaplanes (the Lieutenant weighs 40) for passenger service to New York in 1940.

GERMANY usually launches its transatlantic boats by catapult. This is the 16-ton Nordwin, one of the planes with which the Luftwaffe expects to conduct weekly experimental flights from Portugal to New York by way of the Azores.

THE UNITED STATES is likely to be less busy over the Atlantic this summer than other nations. For Pan American Airways completed survey flights last summer and is awaiting its new super-clippers, being built in Seattle. They'll be ready in the fall. Here's one of them during a test—it weighs 41 tons, has a maximum speed of 200 miles an hour, can fly 4000 miles with a payload.

TOWNSENDITES
WILL MEET

A Townsend mass meeting will be staged at Birch park Saturday starting at 7 p. m. Atty. Franklin A. Scott of Huntington Park will be the main speaker of the evening.

The T. Dustan Collins band will give a concert previous to the program, and the loudspeaker will be used during the evening.

The women's chorus of Orange county, in their uniform dress, will give a selection of community songs. This will be a purely economic meeting and not a political session. Scott is one of the powerful speakers of Southern California, according to Townsend leaders.

Wife Asks Divorce And Son's Custody

GAIN SHOWN
BY LIBRARY

Patrons of the city library and its branch at Julia Lathrop Junior High school, borrowed a total of 349.39 books during the past year, it was made known in the annual report of the organization.

This is an increase of 35,404 books over the year preceding. The circulation jumped, it was explained, mainly because of an improvement in advertising the books stacks. Unemployment had little to do with this change as there was no increase in registration, which would have taken place had the economic factor been an important one, the report related.

The circulation at the local library per capita amounts to 11.5 books per year. Per registered borrower it totals 29 and per staff member working in the library, 23.293.

Lottie Cox Will Filed for Probate
Probate of the will of Mrs. Lottie G. Cox, who died Sept. 17, 1933, in Brea, was asked today in a superior court petition by a daughter, Mrs. Loretta F. Albright of Los Angeles. Mrs. Cox's property, consisting of a one-half interest in a lot in Indio, was willed to her husband, W. J. Cox.

MERIT SYSTEM EXTENSION DISCUSSED

RE-CHECK ON CONTEST VOTE
UNDER WAY

Margins of 5000 to 7000 votes between several leading Journal Courtesies and Efficiency nominees' final scores noted while counting ballots, stimulated today another painstaking re-check which is not yet completed.

Five thousand votes aren't much when leading candidates' scores range into the hundred thousands. That's why a close re-check is necessary. No mistakes will be made in the final count which will be presented for publication.

A "dark horse" candidate rose to astounding heights in the standings during the final day of the contest. This nominee's ballots are being carefully checked. The candidate is apparently in the top half of the eight prize-winning positions.

The Journal today was selecting a committee of three prominent citizens, who have no connection with the paper, to audit the ballots before the final score is announced. The names of these men will probably be announced tomorrow.

In the meantime, Ralph Frankis, of The Journal, stated that prize winners will receive their awards from the stage of the Broadway theater. The date has been tentatively set for next Monday evening.

Not to be overlooked is that steak dinner which the proprietor of the Charcoal Broiler has promised the eight winners following their presentation at the theater.

Mature—"Woman Against Woman," "The Toy Wife," "Wives Under Suspicion," "The Rage of Paris," "The Girls Girls," "Holiday," "Three Blind Mice" and "Josette."

Demonstrating the futility of war—"Blockade" and "Three Comrades." Mystery and crime—"Mysterious Mr. Moto," "The Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse," "You and Me," "The Assorted Husband," "Crime Ring," "Borrowed G Men," "When Were You Born?" and "Prison Farm." Medicine—"Tropic Holiday," "Blond Cheat" and "Danger in the Air."

BAND CONCERT
TOMORROW

The waltz from Franz Lehár's "Gold and Silver" suite and the impressive overture to Offenbach's "Orpheus in the Underworld" will be featured by the Federal Music project concert band tomorrow afternoon in its Birch park concert.

A selection from "Erminie" (Jakobowski) and the march "Marching to Victory" (Johnson) comprise the first half of the concert.

The introduction to Grieg's celebrated suite, "Sigurd Jorsalfar," followed by "Borghild's Dream" and the "Triumphal March" from the final part of the concert. From the album of the late John Philip Sousa comes the concluding number, "Semper Parvulus." Dale Porter will direct the concert, which begins at 2:30 p. m.

C. H. POTTS, RANCHER, DIES
Charles H. Potts, Santa Ana rancher for the past 32 years, died today at St. Joseph's hospital after an illness of five months. He was a resident of 2702 North Main street, and was 82 years of age.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. D. Glenn Tidball of Santa Ana; a sister, Mrs. Jennie Anderson of Kansas City, Mo.; and two nieces, Mrs. Emma Vance of Santa Ana and Mrs. John Weakley of Orange.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 3:30 p. m. from the Brown and Wagner Colonial chapel with the Rev. Frank Lindgren officiating and burial at Fairhaven cemetery. Friends are requested to omit flowers.

WPA Workers on Sewer Construction Job

Are Taken Up at Council Meeting

The Seventh Day Adventist church was granted permission by the city council last night to solicit funds during the month of August. S. T. Borg, applying for the permit, said the church hopes to obtain $900 this year.

Lida E. Kerr's application for establishing a trailer parking lot near Sixth and Birch street was not acted upon by the city council last night. Trustees voiced opinion that they should know more about her proposal before rendering a decision. She told them in a communication that she hoped to raise revenue to assist paying taxes on the property which is the G. Y. Coutts estate.

Company L and Headquarters company of the Third battalion, 185th infantry, were given a cash grant of $200 by council last night as a mess fund for their annual encampment beginning July 23 and closing Aug. 7. The allotment has become customary to the military group. A member of the council explained that the men in this unit have rendered invaluable community service in past years during times of emergency.

Sophie A. Witte, 788 W. 23rd street, San Pedro, in a letter to the council, told the trustees that the charge of $4.80 imposed upon her by the city for clearing weeds from a lot on Artesia street here was too high. She explained that her city and county taxes combined total only a little more. Her objection was referred to the city engineer.

The property owned by John A. Jiles, situated at the northeast corner of Kison and Beverly, was ordered posted for change of zoning from that of single family residence to a duplex, and a public hearing set for Aug. 1.

Fred S. Smith, business manager of the City Garage nightclub team, was granted permission to sell soft drinks at the city employees' picnic in Santiago park, July 3.

W. G. Scott was granted permission to conduct a pool hall at 1027 E. Fourth street.

F. P. Nickey, Scoutmaster for Troop 24, thanked the city council for permitting the Boy Scouts to sell fireworks preceding and during July Fourth.

The council granted the Mary Coleman estate permission to erect a duplex dwelling on N. Parton street, between Eighth and Tenth streets, following a public hearing at which no protests were voiced.

Officials of the Baptist church, wishing to erect a church at the southeast corner of Walnut and Sycamore streets, were granted a public hearing Aug. 1 on their request for a zone change.

ADDA COWAN
DIES IN HOME

After an illness of several weeks, Miss Adda B. Cowan died today at her home, 214 South Sycamore street. She had resided in Santa Ana 30 years, and was a prominent member of Daughters of Union Veterans and the United Presbyterian church.

She is survived by a sister, Miss Minnie Cowan, and a brother, W. C. Cowan, both of Santa Ana. Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. from Smith and Tutill's chapel, with the Rev. Albert Eakin Kelly officiating, and burial in Fairhaven cemetery.

Halliwell Elected President of S. A. Lawn Bowling Club
Election of officers for the Santa Ana Lawn Bowling club gave the presidency to Tom Halliwell last night, with E. T. Rowland being named vice-president and Crawford Nalle, secretary-treasurer, at a meeting in Nalle's offices.

Competition is being held several nights weekly on the club's greens at Santiago park. Laguna Beach bowlers have appeared in two recent exhibitions there.

ALL WORKERS
FOR CITY MAY BE INCLUDED

The city council last night urged the civil service commission to look into the feasibility of placing all city employees on the merit system.

During the discussion it was suggested that the civil service ordinance, ratified by a city election more than eight months ago, be amended to include all city employees.

City Atty. L. W. Blodgett at once pointed out the difficulty of doing this at the present. He told the council that specific examinations would have to be set up to create eligibility lists for every type of work done by employees in numerous classifications.

Blodgett hinted that it might be well to place the matter before the civil service board first, adding that classification of employees in the various lines of activity would be up to this body with the assistance of their consultant, Doris Haney Jones of Santa Monica.

Accordingly, the council agreed to recommend that the merit board investigate and report back to the city trustees on their findings. An amendment to the present civil service ordinance, passed by the council, is all that will be necessary to blanket all city employees under the merit system, councilmen said.

At the present time only firemen and policemen are entitled to civil service rating. Examinations to create eligibility lists for two types of work in these departments were conducted recently.

CANDIDATES
TALK TONIGHT

Candidates for district attorney of Orange county will speak tonight in another "Town Meeting" sponsored by the Unitarian church in its auditorium at Eighth and Bush streets.

A. P. Nelson, George F. Holden and Maxwell Burke have accepted invitations to speak. Joel E. Ogle, prevented by previous commitments from attending, will be introduced at a future session of the Town Meeting, it was announced.

The program, which is open to the public without charge, will open at 7:45 o'clock with a piano recital by William Beeman. The meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock by the minister and moderator, Julia N. Budlong.

Counterfeit Bill
Leads to Suit

Stuck with a counterfeit $5 bill, Fred Germain, service station operator of 601 West Fourth street, went to court today to collect from a woman he thinks gave the bill to him.

Germain filed suit in small claims court for $5 against Eva Hill, 124 South Bristol street, who doesn't think she was the customer who gave Germain the bogus bill.

TRANSFER TO U.S. COURT, AIM

Removal to the U. S. district court of a $325,858 auto death damage suit against him was asked today in a superior court petition by Dr. R. E. Jernstrom of Rapid City, S. D.
 Dr. Jernstrom was sued by the widow and four children of Edward G. Qualls of Whittier, who died from auto accident injuries June 4 after a collision with Dr. Jernstrom's car near La Habra. The suit charged the physician was responsible for the accident and Mr. Qualls' fatal injuries.
 The defendant's petition for removal was based on grounds he is a citizen of South Dakota and the plaintiffs are citizens of California, pointing out that federal courts should hear suits between citizens of different states when the amount in controversy is more than $3000.

Passenger Hurt When Autos Crash

Minor injuries were sustained by a passenger in a car driven by John Raymond Wellbaum, 34, Pasadena, who failed to make a signal stop, police said, and was struck by an automobile operated by Thomas Wilcox, 16, 302 South Sycamore street, Santa Ana.
 Clement Callahan, 27, suffered a cut over the left eye in the crash, which happened at First and Main streets around 8 p. m. yesterday. He was given first-aid treatment by police officers and at the county hospital.

Zoning Ordinance Checked by Group

Santa Ana planning commissioners last night were over numerous technical details of the proposed city zoning ordinance with a fine-toothed comb.
 The ordinance, rapidly being shaped into final form, will be ready for public hearings and presentation to the city council within the next few weeks, commission members indicated.

Held for L. A.

Jailed on contempt of court charges from Los Angeles, George M. Standfast, 28, ranch worker of 224 East Pine street, was arrested yesterday for Los Angeles officers and booked in the county jail. Standfast was involved in a civil action which led to his arrest. He was held under $250 bail.

Police News

Police arrested two men on charges of driving while intoxicated yesterday. They were Chris Gallardo, 27, 614½ Fairlawn, and Jose Hernandez, boot-black, 513 North Fairlawn.

Mrs. Claude Fulwider, Mariopas, Calif., reported the loss of a white purse, containing $5 in change and her driver's license. The purse later was found at Kress store without the $5, she said.

Daniel Arbio, 219 Grand street, was arrested by police on "Peeping Tom" charges in the 1200 block on East Third street.

Willard Stark, 296½ Cypress drive, Laguna Beach, reported the theft of a space tire and wheel from his automobile when it was parked either in Santa Ana or Laguna Beach yesterday.

K. C. COUNCIL SETS ANNUAL PICNIC AUG. 28

The Santa Ana Knights of Columbus council will play host to friends from all parts of Orange county at the annual picnic in Santiago park on Sunday, Aug. 28. It was announced today by Allen Mandy, newly-elected grand knight of the council.

As a special feature of the affair, an essay contest open to all students of all high schools in Orange county, dealing with the history of San Juan Capistrano, will be climaxed with awarding of $25 to the winner in cash during the barbecue. Application blanks and rules are available at Mandy's office, 230 Spurgeon building.

A musical concert and entertainment are being arranged to fill in the afternoon periods between sporting events in which children and adults both will compete.

The executive committee in charge includes P. C. Dietler, general chairman; Charles Webb, Jr., secretary; Tom Giesler, treasurer; and Charles W. Wolford, Walter Markel, Frank Curran, E. J. Vosskuhl, Vincent Paine, Bernard Haupter and Henry Stanley.

Individual committee heads: Barbecue, Vosskuhl; publicity, Wolford; entertainment, J. Riley Huber; concessions, Fred Dierker; reception, Joe Haupter; essay contest, Curran; amusements, Alban Holtz; tickets, Webb; speakers, Robert Sandon; sports, Herb J. Huelskamp; and transportation and traffic, Vincent Borchard.

DEATH TAKES J. D. CLARK

James Daniel Clark, 70-year-old native of Kansas who has lived the past eight years in Santa Ana, died yesterday of bronchial pneumonia. He lived at Route 4, box 564.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. A. J. Molty of Houston, Texas, and a son, G. W. Clark of Santa Ana. Funeral services will be conducted by Groom's Mortuary, 116 W. Seventeenth street, 1:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Funeral services will be W. G. Marcell, A. J. Smith, A. L. Trace, George Frank, Joe Stofer and W. O. Eades. The Rev. Harry E. Owings of the First Baptist church will officiate. Burial will be at the Fairhaven mausoleum.

MOVES PET SHOP

R. van Drimlen, who has been in the pet business in Santa Ana for 12 years, has moved his store from his home at 1417 South Main street to a new location at 2204 North Main street, opposite the Market spot.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

Anaheim Club No. 1 staged a special mass meeting last Friday evening at 224 East Center street so that the local Townsends and others might have the privilege of hearing Roberta Schmale, youthful Townsend speaker of Garden City, Kan., before she will be leaving home as she will be doing soon.

The hall was packed to the doors, with others unable to get in, before the young speaker arrived. Her two previous appearances at Santa Ana and Orange had so impressed the Townsends that many were present to hear her again.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Ida A. Freeman, president of the club. Rev. Frank V. Stipp, pastor of the Brea Christian church, offered the invocation and Rev. Grant Smith, retired Methodist minister of Anaheim, acted as pinch-hitter speaker while awaiting the arrival of the young lady, whose address it was discovered later was due to having been mis-directed as to the location of the hall. Miss Schmale arrived at 8 p. m. accompanied by Miss Kay Berry, another young lady speaker of Los Angeles who had been engaged to speak in Santa Ana Townsend hall soon.

This column has already expressed considerable praise for Roberta Schmale's ability as a Townsend speaker all of which has been deserved. He believes that the Townsend movement needs is just such a speaker as she has demonstrated herself to be. If the young people represented in the homes of the Townsends of the nation could hear such speakers, they would catch the fire of conviction and become like Miss Schmale, warm advocates of the Townsend principles as the way to national recovery.

The writer had the pleasure of conversing with Miss Schmale at some length at the conclusion of the Anaheim meeting. He found her viewpoints just as sincere in private conversation as when speaking to the public as to the practicality of the Townsend Plan having ability to benefit American youth. She expressed the conviction that the great crime wave which has been sweeping America of late years involving in especially large numbers the youth under 26 years of age, can be laid in large part to the failure on the part of the social order to furnish such young people jobs. The crime bill for the nation of from $15,000,000,000 to $18,000,000,000 annually expended, she voiced the opinion would be very much reduced just as soon as the enactment of the Townsend Plan made the large number of jobs needed for youth possible. She describes the Townsend Plan as an old age pension program but instead

PARTISANSHIP AVOIDED BY STATE P. T. A.

Non-partisanship will keynote the policy of California Parent-Teacher associations during this election year, it was revealed today following the first meeting of the new state board of the P. T. A. congress.

"The policy of this organization shall be non-partisan . . . No candidate for public office shall be endorsed," the new board voted in a resolution approved at Los Angeles July 15. "The name of the congress or its branches shall not be used in any connection with any political interest."

The board adopted a five-point activity program for the coming year: Traffic safety, migratory children, continued study of public health with emphasis on eradication of venereal diseases, cost and service of government and basic values in human relations. "Democracy as a Way of Life" was adopted as a program theme for 1938-39.

Included on a state advisory board of 15 was A. J. McFadden of Santa Ana, president of the state chamber of commerce.

Sugar plantations in the Dominican Republic are importing cane cutters from the West Indies.

will speak at a Townsend mass meeting next Sunday afternoon in Kansas City, Mo. While in New York state he expects to work for the Townsend cause, under the direction of Harry B. Elliott, Townsend state director. Santa Ana Club No. 6, of which Mapes is president, will be presided over during his absence by E. M. Fuller, vice president. This club meets at 7:30 this evening in the community building of the First Christian church, at West Sixth and Broadway.

Henry W. Larson, president of Orange Club No. 1, reports his club meeting at 7:30 tonight in the Orange Townsend hall, at 131 South Glassell street, for a business meeting.

Santa Ana Club No. 8 is meeting in Townsend hall at 7:30 this evening for a business meeting, with J. H. Nicholson, president, in charge. Next week this club will have Miss Kay Berry of Los Angeles as speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Mapes left by auto for Birdsall, N. Y., last Saturday afternoon, where they will spend the next three months visiting relatives. Mapes, who is wrapped up in Townsend work,

FEE PAYMENT TO RIVERSIDE FIRM UPHOLD

Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton today wrote the next-to-last chapter in a shadow-boxing bout with County Auditor W. T. Lambert over payment of a $2500 retainer fee to a firm of Riverside attorneys, Lambert has refused to pay the fee, guaranteed by supervisors when they wanted to engage Sarau and Thompson, attorneys, to conduct condemnation proceedings in Riverside county for land needed for the Prado dam basin in Santa Ana canyon. Payment for services not itemized or rendered, Lambert insisted, is illegal.

Menton ruled that payment of a retainer fee was legal, remarking that an attorney gives value received when he contracts to take care of a case, because he might be retained otherwise by the adverse parties. Lambert still refused payment.

Today Menton displayed to the county board a telegram he had received from Atty. Gen. U. S. Webb, in response to an inquiry about legality of advance payments to attorneys. "Yes," said Webb.

The Riverside firm, it was revealed today, already has collected $750 of the $2500, but has not yet indicated whether or not he will accept Webb's opinion and pay the balance.

Kinslow Appeals From Judgment

H. M. Kinslow, Santa Ana machine proprietor, today appealed to superior court from judgment of Justice Kenneth Morrison awarding possession of a garage building to William W. and Olive A. Jones, lessors.

Judge Morrison on June 28 gave possession to the Joneses, who brought the action in justice court, plus $250 rents and $7 costs. They had sued on a lease made Dec. 1, 1933, for five years at a total rental of $4800. Kinslow, in his answer, alleged the lease had been cancelled March 25, 1936, and that he was merely occupying the building located at 702 East First street.

THE MOUNTAIN ROYS

By PAUL WEBB

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

By JOHN HIX

GIBRALTAR'S MONKEYS... live there under British rule. When the last ape died, natives whispered, England's flag would no longer wave over the fortress. In 1930, the monkey population of Gibraltar had dropped off until there were but two left—a pair of old females. Natives passed the word that the British hold was weakening. Fearing possible revolution or other trouble with the Spanish natives, military strategists stationed at Gibraltar saw the necessity of taking steps to replenish the stock of Barbary apes. Consequently, Captain D. A. Smith was commissioned to bring new ones from Africa to quiet the superstitious natives. He captured 30, ferried them across the Strait and turned them loose to clamber over the towering rock mountain.

The Growing Relief Load

Many students of social welfare contend that the real job of the relief agencies should be to take people off the welfare rolls, restoring them to economic independence.

They assert that the highest purposes of welfare work is the rehabilitation of the unemployed. To that end the federal government is sending into strategic points experienced men and women whose duty it is to restore to normal society those who have been temporarily removed from the self-supporting list.

Several aspects of the relief situation seem rather obvious:

Continued relief kills the spirit of independence and resourcefulness in some. They lose their determination to earn their own bread—and with that loss of determination goes a loss of pride. This does not apply to all relief clients, but it does apply to some.

There are certain abuses of relief. Some sons and daughters who are able to support aging parents shirk that responsibility, regardless of their legal and moral obligations.

Most striking general aspect of the relief situation, however, is the ever-increasing cost. The federal social security board reported recently that 6,400,000 households, representing 20,200,000 individuals, had received relief in May at a cost of $247,750,000, an increase of $4,331,000 over April.

As relief costs cannot be paid with clam shells, this always-growing burden on the taxpayers leads to the question: How heavy can this load become without breaking down its supporting structure.

To administer welfare more closely and effectively, and to restore to normal labor and self-dependence men and women not now employed, the government and states have created in some instances a department of social service which has for its mission finding the right place for the right person. It becomes a matter of individual fitness. Nothing is accomplished by putting an individual in a position to which he or she is not qualified. Therefore the issue becomes personal, requiring careful study and investigation, and then instilling into the one who is to go back into gainful work their obligation.

This is the method in which experienced social workers exert their ability. The fact that most of these are sent by the government or states into places with which they are unacquainted gives greater assurance of an impartial service, and a more determined purpose that reemployment must be accepted. These departments are under the welfare director and created by boards of supervisors.

The aim, boiled down, is to get people off relief so taxes can be reduced instead of increased, so that men and women will be happier, and that the social and economic structure may be strengthened. The method seems to be worthy of careful consideration by the Orange county board. In this country something must be done to reduce taxes.

Royal Scenario

Plight of King George VI, who is "overworked," suggests some improvements of the modern, streamlined variety for his job. The poor fellow, whose current illness is attributed to "the strain of public duties," is to have his own nine-hole golf course on Buckingham palace grounds, but who can say that even that will provide the necessary relaxation?

It's the pageants and the pomp and the pattering that get 'Is Majesty down, no doubt of that. And the fierceness of the lights that still beat upon a throne.

And so why not lift a leaf from the book of the imitation royalty that struts upon every movie screen the world over? Why not a stand-in for Royal George?

At ordinary public functions, where 'Is Majesty must stand in the heavy regal 'arness covered with medals, tearstain and the like, let a good strong grenadier who looks about the same do the job.

Then, when close-ups are demanded, the supernumerary could dodge behind a pillar or a clump of bushes, and George VI himself could take the spotlight. It seems to us to be just plain sense, and if 'Is Majesty is going to get any real good from the new golf course something of the kind will have to be worked out.

No Devil's Island

There is a lot of danger in the suggestion of Sanford Bates, former superintendent of federal prisons, that life terms be put away for life, perhaps with their families, in some penal colony.

Such a plan could easily give America a situation such as is found in French Guiana, in the prison system popularly called Devil's Island.

There, after a man serves a term of years in prison, he is freed to go to the Guiana mainland, where he may marry and settle down.

Because most of the prisoners are the dregs of the French underworld, they are producing a low-class second generation, with the result that French Guiana is probably the most backward land on earth.

If criminals are so dangerous to society that they should be shut away for life, surely such men should not be allowed to reproduce their kind!

Nation's Capitol

By RAYMOND CLAPPER

WASHINGTON.—One of the questions most frequently asked me by persons both in and out of politics is, "Do you think Roosevelt will run for a third term?" The question becomes more insistent as evidence accumulates of Roosevelt's phenomenal hold on the country, particularly through the Gallup and Fortune magazine polls.

In Pueblo, Colo., Roosevelt received an appeal from 4000 Colorado steel workers asking him to run for a third term. That probably is the forerunner of many appeals. Unless an upset occurs, Roosevelt will be subjected to great pressure to run, just as Coolidge was.

Will Roosevelt prove as big a man as Coolidge? I never thought Coolidge was a great president, except in the negative sense that he knew he was riding a wave of prosperity and that the shrewd course was to let things alone. But was he a great man? He was petty in some small things. He was great in the one big decision he had to make. Anyone who can go through the years of white house power and adulation that Coolidge experienced and then refuse to take more of the same when it is there on a silver platter is a great man. He could have taken advantage of the same argument that T. R. used and claim that he had had only one elective term and therefore was free to seek a second election. He pushed it away. Some people still think Coolidge was angling to be drafted, but I have never thought so. He had enough humility and insight to see that his time was up.

Roosevelt Uncertain

When I am asked what Roosevelt is going to do, I have to say I don't know. I don't think even Jim Farley really knows. My guess is that Roosevelt will refuse to run again. I think he believes too strongly in American democracy to decide otherwise.

If he does, then I'll be completely fooled and probably will go through life as a thoroughly disillusioned person, believing the worst of all politicians instead of only most of them as is now the case.

Before long, and particularly as soon as the fall elections are over, democratic politicians will begin to plan for Roosevelt's return to the White House, whatever they may be. Indiana democrats have refused to wait. In their state convention this week they endorsed Paul McNutt for president. The Mississippi state committee a few weeks ago endorsed Senator Pat Harrison for the 1940 nomination. In the coming months a great many favorite sons will sew up their states by obtaining endorsements.

Why Wait?

Roosevelt might better have declared himself out of the race months ago. It is argued that he would have undermined the confidence of congress. On the contrary he would have immeasurably strengthened himself in the confidence of the country. He controls congress not because of any fear that he will have a third term, but because of his strength with the people. A man who is trying to do the things Roosevelt is trying to do would be stronger not to have around him the suspicion that he is scheming to grab another four years. There is enough suspicion already that he wants to be a dictator. His silence on the third term only accentuates that suspicion whereas his renunciation would quite thoroughly dispel it.

However, few of his intimates expect him to make any statement on the subject now. The best judgment is that which has come to me is that Roosevelt will go on through the next session of congress and make his statement about a year ahead of the 1940 nominating conventions, as Coolidge did. At least that is what some of his most loyal political friends think he ought to do, in fairness to those who want to seek the nomination.

But of course there's never any telling what a Roosevelt will do.

BOARDWALK SWEEPER

Something new in Atlantic City this year is a mechanical vacuum cleaner that cleans the boardwalk. Trundled along on its two wheels this big vacuum cleaner amplifies the problem of sweeping the ocean-side boardwalk. The self-loading mobile ash can is powered by a built-in gasoline motor that drives a fan blade creating suction and drawing up stray bits of paper, cigarette butts and other trash. Caster wheels support the cleaner head close to the boardwalk planks, while a rubber hose terminates in a nozzle for sucking up litter along the railings and beside the walk.

JUDGE STUMP

Dear Judge: Have you ever seen a bellboy who had any change if he thought he'd get a bigger tip by not having it? T. E. B.

Nope. Bellboys are hard to beat. In Edinburgh, Scotland, however, if you can talk one into giving you a nickel in change for your five pennies, then convince him that a nickel is all you have, he will go away without expecting a tip. He knows bonny well that a nickel is too much. STUMP.

JULY 19, 1913

The Tustin Lemon association, a comparatively new company, is issuing as its May pool to its growers the sum of $25,000. A concrete building 33x50 feet will be erected by the company immediately, to be used as sweat rooms and will be thoroughly up-to-date in every respect. Two cars of lemons have been shipped this week.

A buggy driven by Evelyn Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ross, 1502 N. Flower street, was damaged yesterday noon by being run into by an automobile. The young lady was not injured. The machine locked wheels with the buggy, and the shafts of the latter were broken and the front axle bent.

The work of installing a new sink in the chamber of commerce rooms was completed today, and Secretary Metzgar is happy. He is in need of many kinds of fruits to renew the jar exhibits, and would be pleased to have growers bring in anything they have suitable for display in jars.

J. S. Haywood, of 422 W. Fourth street, has been asked by prospective buyers, to sell his frontage on West Fourth street. (McFadden-Dale Hardware store is now listed at this address, according to the 1938 city directory.) Mr. Haywood's home is on the land. He has lived there 35 years. He has agreed to sell the place, rather than stand in the way of the march of progress.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—For days Washington has buzzed with rumors that this government would make a wheat loan to China. Inside fact is that such a proposal was debated, but abandoned.

Scratching around for new outlets for a 250,000,000-bushel wheat surplus, administration economists hit upon the idea of disposing of a large quantity of wheat to China. A secret interdepartmental conference was held, and the proposal was thoroughly aired.

It involved shipping not wheat but flour, since Chinese flour mills, located principally in Shanghai, are either out of commission from bombing or under Japanese control.

The Export-Import bank was to advance the funds, accepting a promissory note from the Chinese government.

But the conference struck snags. State department career boys warned of the international implications. They said they did not want to offend the Japanese, and that Tokyo would consider even the feeding of Chinese as unneutral.

The Export-Import bank also kicked against advancing the money. Two previous advances of the same sort remain unpaid, the bank said. In 1931 the Grain Stabilization corporation made a wheat loan to China, and in 1933 the RFC made them a wheat and cotton loan. Export-Import bank now holds the bag for both, a total of $12,450,000.

The final objection was put cautiously by a state department official: "What China wants is not wheat but guns."

Babs' Man

Ambassador Joe Kennedy tells this story on Prince Frederick of Prussia, alleged to have been the man behind the scenes in the row between Barbara Hutton and her Danish husband.

The prince of Prussia, fourth son of the Kaiser, is popular among British royalty, sometimes is talking of as the man who may regain the throne of Germany, recent friendship between the British and the German people.

Prince Frederick is now employed in a London bank.

Joe Kennedy, telling about his first session at the Court of St. James, says that his appearance in long trousers gave Queen Mary quite a shock. Picking up a mudler from a highball glass, Joe gives a graphic imitation of her majesty looking at him through her lorgnette.

But finally she softened, after he made a remark about her sons, who were talking with Prince Frederick.

"How fine your sons are looking," he said, "in comparison with the Prince of Prussia."

"Of course," was her cryptic reply, "he works."

Let's Defeat Barkley

Reports from Kentucky are that Roosevelt's speech did harm as good. The harm, however, was not the speech itself, or the effect in the state where it was definitely helpful, but the result it had outside the state.

For the presidential visit has started a tremendous flow of outside funds into Kentucky to defeat Barkley. Presidential critics in Wall street who never heard of Governor "Happy" Chandler before, and who care nothing one way or the other about Barkley, see this as a great opportunity to humble the president.

Roosevelt made the Kentucky visit the most important part of his entire trip across the continent, and so his liberty League enemies have decided—quite rightly—that if they could nominate Chandler, Roosevelt would suffer an irretrievable blow. Barkley, therefore, has become a symbol.

Note—Polls made within the state, however, indicate that the drive is doomed to failure, that Barkley is well in the lead.

It was no secret that labor leaders were surprised at Roosevelt's appointment of a commission to study labor legislation in Great Britain and other European countries. All the necessary information, they said, was available in the United States.

No one, however, was more surprised than members of the Swedish group which accompanied the crown prince of that country to the United States.

Ove Olsson, representing labor in the crown prince's party, visited headquarters of the American Federation of Labor recently and confided:

"What is the idea of President Roosevelt in sending a commission to Sweden? Haven't you any libraries in the United States? It seems to me you must have all the information about Sweden that you already need, without sending another commission over there."

Note—Olsson, however, gathered a lot of information here about the wages and hours bill, the National Labor Relations Act—most of all—the dispute between the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L. labor in Sweden, which is occupied largely in mass production industries like lumber, paper and pulp, and steel, is organized chiefly along industrial lines, similar to C. I. O. unions.

MISREPRESENTING LABOR

When a convention called in the name of organized labor adopts a resolution endorsing a conservative lawyer for the state senate and repudiating the honest and able president of the largest central labor body in the state, something is screwy.

That is what happened at Santa Barbara when the American Federation of Labor political league endorsed Edgar Levey for state senator from San Francisco instead of John Shelley, president of the San Francisco Labor council.

Mr. Shelley's crime, that he has worked for unity in the labor movement and at least a mitigation of the violent and bitter jurisdictional conflicts that have threatened to tear it to pieces, victimizing employers and the public in the process.

And that he should be repudiated in the name of the American Federation of Labor of which he is an outstanding leader is about as discreditable a proceeding as it is possible to imagine.

The Levey endorsement was manipulated at Santa Barbara by Edward Vandeleur, secretary of the State Federation of Labor, and a clique of reactionary leaders who misrepresent the rank and file. As George Kidwell of San Francisco says, it will be repudiated by honest union men. And the state federation cannot act too soon or too decisively to repudiate Mr. Vandeleur himself.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag. Please limit communications to 250 words. The editor reserves the right to shorten all letters in excess of that length.

THE BOY PREACHER

To the Editor: I have been reading the accounts of the boy-preacher, Charles E. Haynes, jr., as given in The Journal. These accounts give the public some interesting, not to say startling, information.

The statement is that the boy was ordained to the Christian ministry at the age of seven years and at the age of eight performed a marriage service in which his mother was one of the contracting parties. Does anyone suppose that the child understood the meaning of the sacred rite? And how different is this from the case of our Lord who delayed until he was 30 years of age before he entered into his public ministry!

I do not like to dispraise anyone or any institution which honors the Saviour of the World. I am not in the business of trying to cheapen any Christian group. But really is it not too much to let this pass unnoticed? Is it not a strange procedure even for Southern California?

For such a notion of the Christian ministry does harm to religion and misrepresents the religion of Christ. As I lay down the paper I can but ask myself what do sensible people think of all this. And will not the enemies of Jesus Christ taunt us as being an infantile association rather than as having the spirit of power and love and of a sound mind of which Paul speaks?

Not only so but the child himself is being exploited. And this is true even though his friends are most sincere and believe that they are doing God's service. For the boy can have no childhood which is his right and which God purposed as the right of every young, grateful creature.

AN OPEN LETTER TO HERBERT HOOVER

Mr. Hoover, Honorable Sir: According to an article published in the Liberty on July 16, under the heading, "Herbert Hoover Tells What America Must Do Next," you are reported as having said: "The wise thing for us to do is also the next thing." That is to stop the excesses of the New Deal by electing, on Nov. 8, a congress with an effective opposition." Being a supporter of yours in 1928, and having the feeling that the collapse of your administration and program was due to the lack of cooperation, I feel that you should have been the last man to suggest such a thing to the American people and voters. But now that you have permitted your prejudices to blind your better judgment, I want to ask the time, would still advocate the same principle if we should elect you president in 1940? No? Well, then it all depends on "whose ox is being gored," doesn't it?

It seems to me, Mr. Hoover, that our political set-up in Washington is most, if not all the time, a disgrace to human intelligence. Have you ever stopped to think how impossible it is for any president, regardless of his party affiliations, to handle the affairs of our nation successfully, with the "out" party doing everything in its power to make the "in" party a failure? Could any other business succeed under the same handicap? Then by what form of reasoning can we excuse that kind of a "set-up" at the head of a great nation, such as ours?

Gov. Philip LaFollette of Wisconsin, who organized a "third party," says that you and Mr. Roosevelt of the two "old parties" have both failed. And I agree with him. But I do not hesitate to call his attention to the fact that he nor any other man, regardless of party affiliations and platform, can succeed under the same handicap. You and Mr. Roosevelt are the two most able men who have graced the White House in many years. But I feel that under the present "set-up" we can accomplish nothing but the "crucifixion" of our best men as presidents. This lack of cooperation reminds me of Franklin's snake, which was cut into three pieces, and bore the inscription, "Unite or Die."

I believe that President Roosevelt is justified in asking us to stand to send more of his friends to congress. If we respond to that appeal, and if he then fails, the responsibility is on his shoulders. But if we withhold that cooperation, and he fails, the responsibility is ours.

My plea for cooperation is not made for President Roosevelt alone, but for all future presidents, regardless of their party affiliations.
